SOUTH HINDERS OWN PROGRESS, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Colonel Declares That Political Solidity Is Retarding the Progress of Section.

HE USES PLEADING TONE IN NEW ORLEANS SPEECH

Appeals to Southerners Who Believe as He Does to Lay Aside Tradition and Join the New Party—He Would Improve the Mississippi Valley.

New Orleans, La., September 27.—It was in the interest of the south, said Colonel Roosevelt today, that he came into the southland to make his appeal in behalf of the progressive party.

"I want you to emancipate yourselves," he said. "I want you to feel free to vote as your conscience inclines you to. If we win, I want you to take your share in steering the wheels of the nation. I am less engaged in pleading my cause than in pleading yours."

Artificial political barriers had sundered the south in the past, he said, from its own interests. He appealed to those in the south who believed as he believed to lay aside tradition and join with the new party.

Colonel Roosevelt spent the day in New Orleans. He rode in a parade through the old French section and the parks, and after a luncheon in one of the city's old-time restaurants went to the winter garden to make his speech. Tonight he left for Alabama.

Great Demonstration.

The winter garden and the street were crowded when the colonel arrived. A squad of "shouters" who had come from Mississippi led the cheering as the colonel stepped on the stage, and there was a demonstration which continued for several minutes.

Colonel Roosevelt put aside his usual arguments and made a speech which differed throughout from any other of his campaign. He said that when he thought of the political conditions in the south he was reminded of a visit he made to Texas, when a loving cup was presented to him. "There were ten thousand people present when the loving cup was presented," he said, "and the man who presented it said, 'This is from Texas, where you have more admirers and fewer voters than in any other state.'

"Now I'll tell you an anecdote of Louisiana," the colonel went on. "A man of a certain club in New Orleans said to me: 'There was no more rejoicing anywhere than in our club when you were elected.'

"I replied that there were no symptoms of such a feeling in the vote cast in Louisiana, and he said: 'Well, of course we all voted against you, but we were anxious to see you win.'

Facing Great Problems.

"There is no speech which I have made during my entire campaign which I have felt so anxious to make as the one I am now making. It is because I am not willing to admit that you and I should be on opposite sides. I come down here to make my appeal that I may stand shoulder to shoulder with those of you who look at the great problems which are facing the nation today as I do.

"The progressive party has come to stay. We are through once and for all with the republican party. We are through with it because it has become an unfit instrument for recording the wishes of the people.

"When we start a new party of this kind I am not willing to have it started in the south except with the same kind of management as in the north. We're going to make a success of this thing, and we want your help. I want to appeal to you as friends, guides and allies, and not to find, what I have so often found in the past, that your representatives opposed your own interests because I championed them and they felt it was regular to oppose me.

"I can't help feeling that if I fail to convince you it will be my own fault, for our case is overwhelmingly strong. I want first to put our party on as healthy a basis in the south as in the east or west or north, and to have it respond to your wishes because you support it because you are a part of it.

"I come here to ask you to join with us on a footing of full equality. I am not trying to appeal to the men who are opposed to the things I am trying to do. The men I am trying to reach are those who do believe as I do, who ought to be with me, and who are artificially sundered from me.

"When as president I came to deal with the problems affecting your interests I was obliged to treat them in a wholly unnatural manner, for there was no representative of yours who did not belong to the party that was supposed to be antagonistic to me.

"I tried my best while I was president to be president of the whole country, and I should have been ashamed of myself if the interests of the gulf states had not been as dear as those of any other states."

Barriers Against South.

Colonel Roosevelt gave several examples of the way in which he said artificial political barriers placed the south in an unnatural position. Although the Panama canal was of particular interest to the south, he said, the chief opposition to the ratification of the treaty with Panama came

UNIQUE MEETING AT AUDITORIUM

Roosevelt Gathering Tonight Will Have Nature of Crusade.

Flaunting of Red Handkerchiefs and Singing of National and Religious Hymns Will Be a Feature — Imposing Procession From Terminal Station.

Plans for the great Roosevelt gathering tonight presage that it will be one of the most remarkable political meetings ever held in the southland. In fact, the atmosphere, from present indications, will be that of a crusade rather than a campaign meeting—a crusade in which scores of earnest women thinkers will lend their influence and sympathy, and in which the hosts will rise up and join their voices in singing religious as well as national hymns.

Two thousand handsomely colored hymn books, containing thirty-six national and religious songs and including the now famous "We Stand at Armageddon," will be distributed among the audience. And, as 8,000 or 10,000 people are expected; several thousand leaflets have been printed with half a dozen hymns, from which the audience will sing in unison, to the accompaniment of the great $50,000 organ.

Many Women Will Be There.

Another striking feature of the conclave will be the display of hundreds of red bandanna handkerchiefs, some with the pictures of Roosevelt and Johnson, and others with a flaring moose head. There are suggestions of a section being reserved for 200 women who will all wear red bandannas around their heads. A small section will be reserved for sixty young ladies of Cox college, and another for the 200 boys from the Georgia Military academy.

Even with a seating capacity of 8,000, it is probable that there will be several thousand people turned away. The doors will be opened at 7 o'clock, and the entire Auditorium will probably be filled before the speaking starts, at 8 o'clock.

An Imposing Procession.

An imposing procession is planned from the Terminal station to the Auditorium immediately after the arrival of Colonel Roosevelt's train, at 7:30 o'clock. Several dozen automobiles will be waiting at the depot, and will follow the car in which Roosevelt rides on a parade through the city, headed by Wedemeyer's band. Arthur Sayers is chairman of the automobile committee, and will line up all automobiles that come to the depot to join the parade. Many Atlanta people, not bull-moosers themselves, are planning to take part in the demonstration out of respect for Roosevelt as the ex-president of the United States, and among the party will be Mayor Courtland S. Winn and Wilmer L. Moore, president of the chamber of commerce.

A fourth lady will have a seat upon the stage during Roosevelt's address, the names of three having been announced Friday. She is Mrs. J. T. Telford, of Gainesville, chairman of the finance committee of the woman's auxiliary of the progressive party. The other three are Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, and Mrs. Longstreet and Mrs. Margaret T. McWhorter, of Gainesville. Three of the four women seated on the stage are from Gainesville, Ga., which has long been famous for the specimens of Georgia womanhood it has produced.

Roosevelt Will Rest.

Owing to the severe strain upon Colonel Roosevelt during his whirlwind tour of the country, he will rest very quietly during his stay here. After the meeting at the Auditorium is over, he will go straight to his suite of rooms in the Georgian Terrace hotel and go to bed.

While making the trip to his mother's old home in Roswell by automobile Sunday morning, he will have a delightful country ride, such as he has not enjoyed since leaving Oyster Bay. A dinner will probably be planned for him on the lawn of the Bulloch yard, so that he may sit and eat under the shade of the same trees that sheltered his mother when a girl. After that, he will either return to Atlanta or go by automobile to Marietta and take his train there. This will not be decided until Sunday.

Seats for Negroes.

It is announced by the campaign committee that negroes will not be allowed at the Auditorium gathering except in a section of the top gallery reserved for them, just as at the organ recitals and other meetings and lectures at the Auditorium.

Rough Rider in Audience.

A veteral of San Juan Hill, who lost his job in the internal revenue department several weeks ago for being a bull moose sympathizer, will be among the great audience that hears Roosevelt's speech tonight.

He is W. E. Crockett, of Marietta—said to be the only veteran of San Juan Hill living in Georgia.

From the day of that historic fight, in which he fought beside the peerless Rough Rider leader and was carried off the field with a wounded leg, Mr. Crockett's admiration of Colonel Roosevelt has been intense, and he says that if the rest of the folks don't whoop 'em up and give Teddy the ovation of his life, he's going to do it himself.

May Go to Tabernacle.

A special invitation has been sent to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to worship with the Tabernacle congregation Sunday morning, but it is not known positively that he will be able to accept it. For many years Colonel Roosevelt and the acting pastor of the Tabernacle have been close friends.

Dr. MacArthur, at the earnest request of many friends, will deliver an address at the Tabernacle Baptist Sunday school at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning in answer to the question, "Is the Bible divinely inspired?"

TIRED OF MURDER TRIAL, HE ADMITS HIS GUILT

Fort Smith, Ark., September 27.—At Ozark this state, last midnight Ferdinand Glaubitz, who a few weeks ago brutally murdered his wife because he was jealous of his own son by an earlier marriage, interrupted the prosecuting attorney and said: "I am tired of this; I am guilty; I am ready for the rope; I believe in the doctrine of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a life for a life. I am ready to go to God's court, and He will know all about my case."

After deliberating a hour and a half, the jury convicted Glaubitz, with the death penalty attached.

FATHER OF CHIEF BEAVERS PRAISES SON: "I FEEL PROUDER OF HIM NOW THAN EVER"

"For there is neither east nor west,
Border nor breed nor birth,
When two strong men stand face to face
Though they come from the ends of the earth."

A gray-haired old man, his shoulders slightly bent with age, but a happy smile beaming from his eyes, pushed his way through the throng at police barracks Friday morning and with spry, springy tread went up the granite steps. He did not hesitate at the door with the sign "Chief's Office," but marched straight in, and fairly ran to the desk at which sat Chief James L. Beavers, the one man in Atlanta who had the moral courage to wipe out, with one crushing blow, the social evil.

"My boy, you are a noble son. You have honored your father and your mother. God bless you," he said.

Father of the Chief.

He was G. W. Beavers, the father of Atlanta's police chieftain. He trudged all the way from his home in Druid Hills to clasp his son to his breast, and to hold his hand in warm grasp.

WILSON KNOCKS COL. ROOSEVELT

Criticises Colonel for Trying to Build Up Power.

Boston, September 27.—A charge that former President Theodore Roosevelt had done "an illegal thing in order to build up an irresistible power" in permitting the purchase by the United States Steel corporation of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company was made in a speech here today by Governor Woodrow Wilson.

"I do not wonder that the leader of the party thinks that trusts are inevitable," said the governor. "He never found and way of checking them, and thought it was inevitable that the steel corporation should buy the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, and that the chief executive should consent to an illegal thing in order to build an irresistible power. If it is inevitable that the government should yield to those powers, the sooner we know it the better.

"And I am sorry that any man who has had experience in that great office should come out of it with that conviction. He despairs of displacing the power, and all he can suggest is that we try our best to make the trusts good, pitiful, kind and just, by which we transfer our own affairs to those who by subtlety have combined against us."

The governor made several references in his speech to Colonel Roosevelt, declaring that, even if he were elected, he would have "no third-party congress behind him;" he would be a lonely official, added the governor; "not that he minds it, because he finds himself in good company. But he hasn't even yet claimed the right to pass acts of congress."

ULSTER URFURLS FLAG OF BATTLE

Great Demonstration Against Home Rule at Big Meeting in Belfast.

Belfast, September 27.—The singing of the national anthem by an audience of 3,000 persons comprising representatives of Belfast's great industrial, mercantile, civil and religious community tonight brought to a close a great anti-home rule meeting in Ulster hall amid fervor which was not equaled even by the anti-home rule convention of 1892. The meeting renewed the adoption of the resolution passed at that convention protesting against a home rule parliament for Ireland.

The supreme dramatic moment of the memorable gathering tonight was the unfurling and presentation to Sir Edward Carson, the chief propagandist against home rule, of the flag carried by King William at the battle of the Boyne. The flag was greeted with frenzied cheering, contrary to expectations.

No new pronouncement of unionist policy was made at the meeting. The Ulster watchword is "We will not have home rule," but none of the various speakers nor letters of the influential unionist leaders which were read attempted to reveal the plan of resistance, if such a plan exists, should King George sign the home rule measure.

In comparison with the demonstration held elsewhere during the past week the absence of talk of armed resistance was noticeable. Also there was less display of the military spirit today in Belfast. The day, however, gave a remarkable indication of Ulster's determination not to accept home rule, expressd in an orderly and enthusiastic manner which can hardly fail to provide the government with food for serious reflection.

The Weekly Outlook tonight makes the startling announcement that one-third of the officers in the British army are Irishmen, that over 90 per cent of them are unionist Protestants and that they now are considering how to resign their commissions in order to lead Ulster in arms against home rule.

LADIES PICK COTTON FOR MISSIONARY MONEY

Wichita Falls, Texas, September 27.—To earn money for missions, women of the Home Mission society of the Methodist church here have gone into the cottonfields to earn money in the past two days, netting $30 in that time. The society members are today fairly deluged with offers for their services from farmers.

SAYS WOODWARD HAS NOT CHANGED

James L. Key Makes Severe Attack on Candidate.

A central rally in behalf of Aldine Chambers, candidate for mayor, was held last evening at the Orpheum theater. A good crowd was present, despite the inclement weather, and those present were attentive and enthusiastic.

James L. Key made an attack on James G. Woodward, one of Mr. Chambers' opponents. Mr. Key made severe charges of a personal as well as an official character against Mr. Woodward.

The meeting was opened by S. B. Turman, manager of Mr. Chambers' campaign, who stated that Henry S. Johnson could not preside on account of an indisposition. Mr. Johnson wrote that it behooved every man to vote for Mr. Chambers, who stood for a good and clean government.

The first speaker was James L. Key, who said in substance:

Mr. Key's Speech.

"One of the things that has interested me so much in the campaign is the shameful campaign of quiet slander that has been carried on by some of Woodward's supporters against Aldine Chambers.

"One of the lies detected by me was this: C. W. McClure, the 10-cent man, was telling the story that Chambers at one time had an office next door to a prominent citizen here, and was stealing money from him, and that he was detected in it and brought up and made to disgorge. It was shown that McClure had offered money to get an affidavit to prove his charges, and failed to get it. It was shown that this prominent citizen did not know Mr. Chambers; never saw him to know him; never had any dealings with Chambers of any kind, and that he was supporting Mr. Chambers. It was shown that McClure had a personal grudge against Mr. Chambers, and was supporting Mr. Woodward.

"A written retraction was demanded

WOMEN CANNOT LIVE IN HOUSES

Must Leave in Week After Closing, Says Chief.

If Not, He Will Prosecute Occupants for Past Offenses. Beavers' Statement Is Threat of Anarchy, Declares Charlie C. Jones.

Chief Beavers announced yesterday that the women of the "district" could not remain longer than a week in the restricted section, after it is closed Sunday.

This decision came after Charles C. Jones, proprietor of The Rex saloon, and owner of four houses in the "district," had announced that the women of the tenderloin could use his houses free of expense as long as they desired for places of legitimate residence.

The chief declared that inmates who remained in the houses after the order to close had gone into effect could stay no longer than seven days. At the end of that time, if they still are in the district, all will be carried to police station and fined. No property will be razed, or no weapon more than the policeman's authority will be used in entering the buildings.

Must Leave in Week.

The time limit fixed by the chief for the evacuation of houses is Monday a week ahead. "The women who want to remain in the city," he said, "will be provided for by the police department and Men and Religion Forward Movement. All provision necessary will be made for them by these organizations. If they remain in the old 'district' it will be only a question of time before they are operating on the sly their former trade. If they cannot leave the city and are forced to take up residence somewhere in Atlanta, it will be best for them to apply to the police. They can't stay on Manhattan avenue."

Chief Beavers also said that in case of an injunction against his work of evicting the occupants of the Manhattan avenue houses upon the expiration of his seven days of grace, he would arraign the inmates of the closed disorderly houses before Recorder Broyles and prosecute them for past offenses. This, he declared, could be done. The law stood for itself, and has been standing for the past thirty years or more.

Charles C. Jones, who offered the use of his houses for the legitimate residence of tenderloin inmates, in a statement issued yesterday afternoon, said that his attempt to aid the unfortunate women and girls was met with a threat of anarchy from the police chief. He also stated he had been advised that an injunction against his action could be secured, but that he was not considering the advisability of this procedure.

Charlie Jones' Statement.

Jones' statement to the public is as follows:

"As an act of kindness to the inmates of these houses who were suddenly thrown upon the streets, and who were homeless, penniless and friendless, I sought to allow the women living in the four houses owned by me to remain there, rent free, until they could make some other arrangements for a living. I did that in a spirit of kindness.

"I made the further offer that if any of these women suffered for the necessities of life I would provide for them.

"At the time I made this offer I required the inmates of these houses to sign a promise to commit no illegal act while within the buildings, and if such an act were committed, it should be reported to Chief Beavers.

"In reply to this act of kindness on my part, I have seen in an afternoon paper that Chief Beavers is reported to have stated publicly that if any of these women remain in these houses under any conditions after the expiration of a period of grace, he would destroy the houses and arrest the women.

Met by Threat of Anarchy.

"My attempt to aid these poor women has met with this threat of anarchy by the chief of police. I do not care to get into any controversy with him about this matter. I have consulted lawyers and have been advised that I could get an injunction against any destruction of these houses. I do not want to prolong this controversy or give it further notoriety by entering into a lawsuit.

"It seems that the people who have inaugurated this mistaken move seem disposed to take it upon themselves to exercise the only charity towards the poor women, and resent the fact that any other person is willing to do them an act of kindness.

"They want a monopoly of the present sensation, and believe that to get a full monopoly it is necessary that no charity should be exercised except what they offer themselves.

Where Are the Names?

"It would be interesting to the public who are being nauseated with the present sensation to be furnished with the names of the homes that are offered to these women, and the exact kind of charity offered them. It might be discovered that sensationalism, and not the love of charity, is the ruling thought behind the movement.

"A good many people have wondered whether this crusade would have been begun if there had come to the main characters in it no sensational advertisement. A good many conservative citizens have also wondered if any real good has come to the plain, thoughtful citizens by surcharging the atmosphere with this delicate sex question about which the less said the better."

THREE SHOT BY TROOPS WHEN CITIZENS CROSS DEAD LINE AT AUGUSTA

Alfred Dorn Instantly Killed, Two Others Wounded by the Soldiers.

DEAD LINE ESTABLISHED; MILITIA TOLD TO USE BALLS

At Labor Mass Meeting Governor Brown Is Petitioned to Withdraw Troops---Three Men Shot Down Did Not Know City Was Under Martial Law---Street Car Officials Refuse to Arbitrate. Governor Declares City in State of Insurrection.

GOV. BROWN PETITIONED TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

The following resolutions were passed at the Augusta mass meeting last night and wired to Governor Brown:

"Whereas, Three of the citizens of Augusta, while peacefully traversing the streets of Augusta this afternoon, were shot down by irresponsible militia, be it

"Resolved, That we, the people of Augusta, in mass meeting assembled, request of his excellency, Governor J. M. Brown, that the state militia be withdrawn at once."

Augusta, Ga., September 27.—Alfred Dorn was killed and two other citizens shot, one probably fatally, by members of the state militia who had formed a dead line about the Fifteenth street plant of the street railway company to prevent attack by strikers or sympathizers. The injured are:

Robert Christie, a business man, shot through lungs.

Ben F. Baker, another business man.

The labor mass meeting tonight was far more quiet than those which preceded it, the net result being the adoption of a resolution, which has been telegraphed to Governor Brown, demanding immediate withdrawal of the troops.

As the climax to rioting in this city and the shooting of three citizens late today by state militia troops, Governor Brown tonight issued a proclamation declaring "the city of Augusta to be in a state of insurrection" and ordering the immediate enforcement of martial law.

Adjutant General William G. O'Bear has been ordered by the governor to proceed here at once from Atlanta, and assume charge of the situation. Another company of militia also was ordered here from Waynesboro to reinforce the four local companies under Captain Levy.

The state troops were called out late this afternoon, after reports were current that the strikers proposed to dynamite the company's power plant tonight. A dead line was established at each end of the property and the soldiers armed with riot cartridges.

C. F. von HERRMANN,

it is stated, are business men who were driving out Fifteenth street, and who claim not to have known that a dead line had been established. It is said the militiamen obeyed orders in firing upon anyone who attempted to cross the line.

News of the shooting spread rapidly and attracted thousands to the scene of trouble. At the same time great crowds were assembling in West End, the mill district, which was the scene of last night's rioting. Just before dark the West End sympathizers spiked the long Broad street bridge, a double row of spikes being driven on each side of each car rail the entire length of the bride. There was no other attempt at violence in that section of the city in the early night hours.

Dead Lines Established.

During the middle of the day information was conveyed to the authorities that the strike sympathizers had planned to plant a mine under the power house tonight. During the afternoon a military guard was thrown around the Fifteenth street property of the company, where one of the power plants is located, and a dead line established at each end of the property. The troops were given instructions to challenge anybody attempting to pass through the line and stop them; to fire if the challenge should be ignored and any effort made to pass through the lines after the challenge. The troops are provided with riot cartridges and were stationed on duty with loaded pieces.

Robert Cristie a business man, was driving by in an automobile, and, evidently did not hear the challenge of the sentry. He had gone but a few feet when he was shot through the lungs. He is at the Margaret Wright hospital, where he will die.

Dorn Shot to Pieces.

Ben F. Baker and Alfred Dorn, also business men, attempted to drive through Fifteenth street a few minutes later. A few blocks from the power plant someone told Baker, in whose buggy they were riding, the soldiers were firing blank cartridges. As he approached the power plant he whipped up his horse, and, immediately after challenging, one sentry fired, and immediately others joined in the fire. Baker was wounded, but will probably recover. Dorn was literally shot to pieces and is dead.

An unknown white boy, apparently about 20 years old, attempted to rush the sentry line on a motorcycle and one handle of his machine was shot off, but he was uninjured.

Another Narrow Escape.

Charles Wilson, who operates a pool room in one of the local hotels, was driving through Fifteenth street in his automobile with his wife and child, and says he was unconscious of the fact that the dead lines were being enforced. He claims not to have heard any challenge, though he saw one of the soldiers standing by the driveway.

His machine was fired into, the ball passing through the top. He reached down to toot his horn, he says, and other guards evidently mistook the motion as one to reach for a gun. Other shots were fired and Wilson, though escaping without injury to himself or other occupants of the car, drove down onto Broad street with four big holes shot through his machine.

Arbitration Is Refused.

During the day ceaseless efforts have been made by every business faction in the city to bring about an adjustment of the street car strike, which is now but an incident of the troubled condition. The chamber of commerce, the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and the cotton exchange, in joint meeting, demanded immediate arbitration by the company and the strikers, commended Mayor Barrett's position of enforcing protection of property and lives and the measures taken to hold down mob rule.

In response to the demands of the business interests, the striking car men have unequivocally accepted the suggestion of arbitration, but the company, in an address signed by General Manager Deal, flatly refuses arbitration, declaring they have nothing to arbitrate, and, further, that the men who left their employ and whom he declares joined in the rioting last night, have no connection with or further claim on the company. He asserts that the company stands ready to operate all its cars so soon as they are given sufficient protection, which they claim as a right.

Leaders Check Riot.

Following the labor meeting at the courthouse at 8:30, which lasted over two hours, a crowd of fully 2,000 people marched out onto Broad street, declaring they were "going to the power house." At the corner of Eighth street an earnest plea was made to them by one of their political leaders not to attack the power plant or do any further violence, but disperse and go to their homes. Half an hour later a crowd more than half as large congregated four blocks further up town, in front of fire headquarters, and again the same leaders mounted into an automobile and made an impassioned appeal to them, on the basis of a personal plea, that they not attempt violence, but give him their promise to disperse. Hundreds at a time gave the promise and left. At midnight the streets were clear of that element from the mill district, which has caused all the trouble.

Shortly after midnight the company of troops from Waynesboro were run into the yards of the Central railway and began to detrain. They are to be immediately put on guard duty around the power plant and the local troops removed, by order of Major Levy, who is commanding until the arrival of Colonel W. L. O'Leary, who is on his way from Savannah to Augusta in an automobile.

Martial Law Declared.

Tonight Governor Brown issued a proclamation declaring "the city of Augusta to be in a state of insurrection," and ordering the immediate enforcement of military law.

The customary restrictions imposed during martial law are included in the proclamation.

At midnight the railway company maintained its former position that it has nothing to arbitrate and that, so far as they are concerned, the strike will be fought to the end. With them it still remains a test of strength between the company and organized labor.

Governor's Proclamation.

Governor Brown's proclamation says:

"I, Joseph M. Brown, governor of the state of Georgia, do hereby proclaim a state of insurrection in the city of Augusta, Ga.

"1. The military commander will assume charge of the situation, reporting directly to me for instructions.

"2. All persons who may heretofore have given aid to or otherwise supported the lawlessness hitherto existing in this city who shall return to peaceful occupation, holding no communication of any kind with lawless person, or persons, will not be disturbed.

"3. All rights of property of whatever kind will be held inviolate, and will not be disturbed, except as the exigencies of the public welfare may necessitate and by direct command of the commanding officer of the district.

"Excepting as herein provided for, where the extent of martial law implies to the contrary, the usual laws of the community will be in force. Crimes will be tried by military commission or by civil courts, as may be most practical as the governor may decide.

"Any persons found on the streets who appear to be habitually idle and without occupation will be placed under arrest

"When in his opinion the civil authorities are able to resume their ordinary functions, the military commander will communicate with the governor with a view to withdrawal of the troops, upon which the civil authorities will resume full control.

(Signed) "JOSEPH M. BROWN,
"Governor."

Adjutant General William G. O'Bear will assume command of the city tomorrow morning.

General Obear Leaves.

Adjutant General William G. Obear left for the scene of the trouble on the midnight train. An additional company of infantry has been ordered to Augusta from Waynesboro, completing the battalion of Major Levy, and Colonel O'Leary, of Savannah, has also been ordered to report for duty.

"Accounts from Augusta are conflicting," said General Obear shortly before he left. "I received a telegram from a man whom I learned had been shot at saying 'irresponsible militia are shooting men down like dogs.' I got in touch with well-known people and a newspaper office, and all of them said the situation had quieted down, though there was a 'little trouble on the outskirts.'"

Boy" enough times to make him feel intimate with the crowds.

At one stop an overalled workman, spying the governor in the car platform, cried out: "Hello, Woody, old boy."

"I like that," smiled the nominee as he stepped down and shook hands.

With a whirl of speeches and receptions, the governor completed his New England trip, making an address before a big crowd here. Throughout the day as the nominee journeyed from Boston, people crowded the stations cheering and clamoring for buttons. The governor had passed through Hartford three times, but found another crowd there today.

"I thought you'd had enough of me at Hartford," said the candidate.

"Oh, no," came in a chorus from the crowd and the governor shook hands with a great number.

At Willimantic the governor made a brief speech. "As I stop at this particular place," he said, "I cannot but think of the absentee landlords who own the thread industry and do not live here, because, of course, one of the difficulties of our whole political arrangement in the United States is that the people that run us don't have anything to do with us and stand off at a distance and find it very difficult, indeed, to judge actual conditions."

Miner Rescued.

McAlester, Okla., September 27.—After being imprisoned for sixteen hours in the buring Bolan-Darnell mine at Craig, Okla., Frank Spaneville, a shot-firer, was rescued alive today. He is badly burned, but will probably recover.

and received, and in this retraction Mr. McClure stated that he did not know of anything against Mr. Chambers, and that he himself did not believe Chambers had done anything wrong. As the committee that got this retraction from McClure was leaving his office, Mr. Woodward was there waiting for the next interview."

Mr. Key said that he did not know how far this lie had traveled; that lies travel awful fast, and Mr. Chambers' friends ought to set him right all over the city.

"Another thing that makes me take interest is the claim of some of Woodward's friends that Woodward has reformed; that he is a different man now from what he used to be. It is astonishing how much that has been told and how many men, good men, too, have been caught by it and believe it. The claim is untrue. It has come to my knowledge in certain ways that Candidate Woodward is the same old Woodward that has disgraced himself, his friends and his city in the past. The leopard has not changed his spots.

"About the first of this year, in one of the most prominent clubs in Atlanta, Woodward got drunk and used to a fellow-member the vilest language that ever fell from human lips. It is so vile that I could not discuss it in a public meeting of men only, and I can only hint at where ladies are present. It involved the honor of wife, child and mother. It was enough to bring the blush of shame to the whole community that such a thing could happen in it. It is nothing but fair to say that the honorable gentlemen in this club could not and did not stand for it.

Quotes M. B. Young.

"Another instance: I have it upon the authority of Mr. M. B. Young, a gentleman of honor and integrity, and a member of your park board, that in March last Mr. Woodward came into his office drunk. His office adjoins Mr. Woodward's in the Empire building. Woodward cursed and brandished a pistol and frightened the stenographer and clerks. Mr. Young got him in his own office, and with assistance there, and by putting ipecac in his liquor, they got him sober enough and sick enough by 1:30 o'clock in the morning to get him home. He was out of his office for seventeen days. In the light of past performances, what might this city expect if Mr. Woodward should be elected mayor?

"Mr. Woodward poses as a business man. For years he has been rent collector for some little houses on a railroad right-of-way. He draws a big salary, has a clerk to do the work while he is roaring around the streets. Any real estate office would gladly do this work for $50 per month. Why the railroad keeps him I don't know.

"The crowning work of his political activities, according to his claims, is the Whitehall viaduct. He had just as much to do with that as anyone of the other twenty-four men in council at the time and no more. In fact, he was insisting that the local monopoly should have it for $25,000, when others were insisting on $50,000 and got it. The fact is, it was the worst piece of business that the city ever did. It practically bottled up the center of town forever and for a price less than half the cost of the bridge. It was a monopoly that today is worth $50,000 a year, and if the question were up in a good live administration we could get it. Some more of his business ability is shown by the way he dealt with Howell park, in West End. He fought this park when the citizens contributed largely to buying it. He hated the name of Howell because Captain Evan Howell beat him for mayor. He allowed his prejudice to run away with his judgment. He vetoed the project and the council passed it over his veto, and after that defied the council and would not sign the check for the money.

Speaks of Matters in Council.

"I was in the council during his last year as mayor. During that time we made the last five-year contract for lights, we got no assistance from the mayor; in fact, while this work was going on I was chairman of this committee and while we were working for a reduction in electric and gas rates Woodward was making a bitter personal attack on me and I had to denounce his in the open council as the most pliant tool the electric company ever had.

"While he was mayor the Macon Street Car company was granted a franchise. This he promptly vetoed and the council promptly passed it over his veto. He never failed to serve his boss when he could.

"While he was mayor he was rent collector for the railroad and he permitted his railroad to begin digging up the streets of the city without ever coming to the council at all. I learned that they had cut through Haynes street, and they did it so hurriedly that they broke one of the city's water mains and stopped the whole waterworks department. I required them to go and fill back this street and come before the council for their permit. When they did this we imposed the conditions on which the road could be built. This included all the bridges and underpasses, the paving and the lights contained in that ordinance and my information is that they have all been lived up to.

"These merely illustrate how he did not look after the public interest while he was mayor."

In conclusion, Mr. Key said that what Atlanta needed was a vigorous man, a courageous man, a qualified man, and a man that was clean in thought, clean in speech, and clean in habit, as well as an honest man, for mayor of our city. Such a man was Aldine Chambers.

J. R. Smith Speaks.

The next speaker was J. R. Smith, who stated that he came to Atlanta twenty years ago from the country and found James G. Woodward running for office and he is still running.

"I like to say kind things about my neighbors. We have in this campaign a man for mayor who we do not think fit to fill the office. On the other hand, we have in the person of Mr. Chambers a young man who is in every way qualified to be mayor of our great city."

Mr. Smith paid a great tribute to Mr. Chambers, saying he came to Atlanta a green country boy, educated himself and made a success. He came into public notice four years ago and has made the best member the city council now has. He said because Chambers was not rich did not disqualify him for the office of mayor.

"I voted against Woodward," he said, "in 1908 for reasons just as strong now as they were then. I know nothing about any ring, but I do know that we want a man who is moral and clean.

"The real ring is Woodward, because there is no end to his running for office.

"We expect to roll up a handsome majority for Mr. Chambers, to Atlanta's honor and glory."

Tells What the Ring Is.

Mr. Turman, before introducing Mr. Chambers, said he wanted to state what the alleged ring was, as he had been charged with being in it. He said when he became a member of the county board he found the city and county working at cross purposes over public improvements, and "I endeavored to bring about unity and harmony, and the result was called a ring."

Mr. Chambers Speaks.

Mr. Chambers thanked those present for coming out in such large numbers when it was raining.

"It is my ardent desire to be mayor, because I believe a majority of the people of Atlanta desire to have me serve them."

Mr. Chambers discussed the work that has been done in the city during the past four years. He said much new territory had been added, and it had to be improved—to lay sewers, to put down water mains, build schools, grade streets and furnish lights. He said that this new territory absorbed much of the revenue of the city. Besides this, provision had to be made to take care of the $3,000,000 bond issue. He said:

"In four years 140 miles of sidewalk paving have been laid; 40 miles of streets paved; 90 miles of lateral sewers were laid, and more than 4,000 earth closets abolished; and these figures will show that a great deal more such work was done in the past four years than was done in the fifteen years Mr. Woodward was in public life."

Mr. Chambers stated that the putting down guttering at the cost of the property owners was for the benefit of the owners. He said the new law allowing the city to pave streets without a petition from citizens was in the interest of the property owners. The new law permitted competition and put a stop to monopoly.

Mr. Chambers spoke of the bond issue, and stated that every dollar of the money had been spent according to a bond ordinance ratified by the people. He went into detail, showing how the money had been spent for schools, sewers, disposal plants, water mains, hospitals and crematory.

About the Sewerage Plant.

He explained how the sewage or purification plants operated. He said these plants had to be built to stop the city from being enjoined from emptying sewage water into the creeks. He said that the main trunk sewers would be extended, with the help of the county, and it was this co-operation that was called a ring.

Mr. Chambers discussed the question of taxation. He said tax values had been increased 25 per cent this year as a result of the work of the tax committee of council.

He spoke of electric lights and mentioned the recent contract that had been made with the Georgia Railway and Power company. He said the city had made a good trade, one that saved both the city and the people thousands of dollars. He said it had been his pleasure to introduce the resolutions in council that brought about such good results.

He said the recent light contract would save the city $20,000 a year.

Mr. Chambers then took up Atlanta's future. He said it had every natural advantage and the only thing needed was development.

"We must do all we can," he said, "to offer attractions to manufactories, and we must keep our city clean and healthy, provide good schools and look after improvement of streets. We ought to begin to look about for a better basin for a supply of water. I believe our high school buildings are out of date and new ones should be constructed on the most accessible sites. I believe the Technological high school should be located on the stockade grounds. If I am mayor I shall insist that the business affairs be conducted in a business-like and economic way. I believe the city ought to have more up-to-date machinery for public improvements and apparatus for the fire department."

Mr. Chambers spoke for more and better parks. He paid a tribute to those who had the hospitals in charge. He said he was opposed to increasing the tax rate.

He concluded by saying that co-operation in the management of public affairs was better than friction and dissension, and that he would be in a position to heartily co-operate with both city and county officials if he was elected mayor, "and I expect to be. When my two years are done I will come back to you and render an account of my stewardship."

Vote for Steve R. Johnston for Mayor. He is worthy and well qualified.

KEY ANSWERED BY WOODWARD

Candidate for Mayor Brands M. B. Young and James L. Key as Falsifiers.

James G. Woodward, candidate for mayor, last night furnished The Constitution with the following card, in which he replies to charges made against him by James L. Key on Friday night:

"Editor Constitution: I have been informed by two or three friends who attended the Chambers meeting last night that James L. Key, in his speech, stated that M. B. Young, who has an office near mine in the Empire building had given the information that I was drunk in my office last March. I want to say with all the emphasis at my command that the statement, not to use a shorter and uglier word, is an infamous falsehood, and that the author of it knew it was false when he stated it, and that I am willing to make affidavit that I have not even drank so much as a glass of beer during the entire year, and, God being my helper, I never expect to drink another glass. The statement by Mr. Key that I used such horrible language about another man's family is infamously false, and I demand of him to produce the record proof or stand branded as a common falsifier.

"Now, a few words to the public. I have not spoken to Mr. Key since I branded him as an 'infamous liar and scoundrel' the latter part of my last administration in 1906, during the riot term, when information was furnished me by Mr. A. C. Minhinnett that Key was, as a member of the police committee, guilty of accepting money from different saloon people and the whisky dealers' association. As the matter come to me it appeared to be a simple question of graft, and while the council, through its unfriendly feeling toward me, exonerated Key, yet I believe Mr. Minhinnett's statement was correct.

"The mere fact that Mr. Key was selected to do this infamously dirty work demonstrates the character of the man. He has been peddling out this false slander ever since this campaign commenced. I can convince, by absolute proof, the falsity of his statement to any reputable, fair-minded committee of my opponents that may feel disposed to call on me for the proof. I dare him to produce his proof. Do this or stand branded as a common, infamous falsifier.

"Now, to the voters of Atlanta, I present myself to you in this campaign clean, and I intend to continue it clean. There is too grave a condition facing Atlanta to allow falsehood and slander to muddy the water. I was born within twenty miles of Atlanta, and have spent the nearly sixty-eight years of my life in Cobb and Fulton counties, and I defy any man to truthfully point out one dishonest or dirty act.

"This dirty work is but a sample of ring politics, of which Chambers is the boss. Key is a member of the board of education, put there by the ringsters; so was M. B. Young, a member of the park board, a history of whose private affairs might interest the public.

"This is the opportunity for the people of this city to put their stamp of disapproval upon such low politics. If you do not the time has come when reputable men need not offer for office. It is a self-evident proposition that Chambers is in dire distress or he would not resort to such dirty methods. He knows he is overwhelmingly defeated. I am satisfied that the people of Atlanta, to whom I have given fifteen years of honest, faithful service, will give me the largest vote that I ever received, and in return I promise that when I vacate the office of mayor that no man who honors me with his vote shall have cause to regret voting for me, and the people will see the dirty ring dissipated and forgotten. It is very unpleasant to have to appear before the people in this manner, but when you have to deal with slanderers and character assassins there is no other recourse. Respectfully, J. G. WOODWARD."

"WHY I AM AN OCCUPANT OF HOUSES IN OUR MIDST"

Woman of Culture and Refinement Tells Why She Will Make No Effort to Reform.

By B. D. F.

I wish to state, by way of preface to what I am about to write, that I do not say these things to encourage anyone to enter such a life as I now lead, but merely to show how utterly futile it would be for some of those who dwell in "the houses in our midst," as they have been termed, to attempt to lead any other sort of a life; and, in writing of it, I believe that I may in some way be able to sound a warning which some girl who may be skirting the coasts of moral oblivion may heed.

The morbid details of how, falling as a young girl, I came to live in this state, I believe, need not be paraded now.

Paradoxical as it may seem to some, I was and am a woman of refined tastes. I am versed in the literature of three languages, and have a keen appreciation of the classic in art and music. The pictures that hang upon my walls and the books that I keep in my own room bear testimony to this fact. I was reared in environments which instilled in me these tastes.

Involved in the unfortunate consequences of an almost childish caprice, however, I suddenly found myself cut off from the society of those of my temperament. My pride would not let me live under the roof of my parents under these conditions. I, therefore, began to shift for myself, and, with the lessons of the world on all sides of me like an open book, I was not long in finding the most lucrative way.

Thus it was, then, that I was in the meshes before I could hardly realize it. Too paralyzed at first to make any effort to redeem myself, I soon found myself permanently powerless to do so.

That was five years ago.

Since then a great part of that time has been spent in adjusting myself to the inevitable. I studied the conditions of those about me, and profited by their experience.

I saved the money that I made and surrounded myself early with luxuries and objects of art, imitations that many of them were, and I soon learned that in so doing I had earned not only a psychic income, but a financial one as well, for I soon found myself the favorite of moneyed men with tastes similar to mine.

To make a long story short, then, these are the circumstances under which I have lived in Atlanta.

Now, when it is too late in life for me to make a new start and fight my way back, is it any wonder to those of wealth and refined tastes who would reform me that I should not make the effort which I foreknow would end only in misery to myself and the scorn of others?

(Signed) B. D. F

FATHER PRAISES ATLANTA CHIEF

ly face time had left its indelible imprint of years of care, the other young, erect, and sturdy as an oak, had met for the first time since the memorable edict went forth. It was the meeting of strong men; just the sort of men that inspired Kipling when he wrote the verse quoted above.

"I knew that you would always do the right thing, and hold duty above everything. I never had any fears as to that," the old gentleman said.

"Mother" Brings Tears.

"Mother." It was the mention of that name that brought the tears to the eyes of the chief. He had heard his children speak the word often, but he could not bring back to his mind the time when he has called "mother." He was only 3 years old when his mother went away. It was no wonder he wept.

The words "honor thy father and thy mother" had conjured up in the mind of Atlanta's chief a picture that he carried with him throughout his life, the picture that always stared at him when he faced danger or when he rubbed elbows with stern duty. It was the picture that lighted the way for him, last Tuesday night, as he walked the floor of his room, battling with his conscience, praying for God's help to guide him into doing his duty with equal justice to all.

"Well, father, I'm satisfied. I know that I have done my duty," the chief replied.

As the father started to leave the office he was met by friends and fellow workers of his son.

Proud of His Boy.

"I have always been proud of that boy," he told them, "and have just felt all along that he would do the right thing. He has honored me, and has kept sacred the love and trust of his mother. I feel prouder of him now than ever. He has shown himself to be a man—a real man—and that is what I wanted my son to be. He was a God-fearing and conscientious boy all his life. He has always loved me and respected me. He's just bound to be good."

A box of white roses, mute symbols of purity, were sent to Chief Beavers by the ladies of the Tabernacle Baptist church and the Ladies' Aid society, and a letter thanking him for his action.

"These are for my wife," the chief said.

N. Y. REPUBLICANS NOMINATE HEDGES

Saratoga, N. Y., September 27.—With the selection of Job E Hedges, a New York attorney, to head the ticket and of James W. Wadsworth, Jr., former speaker of the assembly, Hedges' leading opponent for the gubernatorial nomination as the candidate for lieutenant governor, as well as a full state ticket, the republican state convention, which has been in session since Wednesday, wound up its work late this afternoon.

Both the chief nominees, who are noted as public speakers, pledged themselves to make a stirring campaign—as Mr. Hedges expressed it—one "without monotony."

For the first time in many years the delegates to a New York republican state convention found themselves without a prearranged "slate" of candidates, and they settled their problem by the ballot test alone. Three ballots were required to nominate Mr. Hedges, who had led from the start. The balance of the ticket was made up in a session that lasted seven hours without a recess.

Marion Jackson Recalls Case of Mary Magdalene in Answering Her Letter.

By Marion Jackson.

Inmates of the houses in our midst have said many things which stir the heart with pity, in the revelation of half-truths, ever worse than lies, believed by them.

This is an example and a powerful one.

The woman fears that which overhung and clouded the path of Jesus Christ from the cradle to the cross, the hypocrisy of Pharisees, "the whited sepulchres" of the world.

They mocked Him when with dying lips He had to ask His friend to take Mary, His mother, to His home, because He, the Son of Man, had none to which He could send her.

This poor woman has been so brutally treated that tonight her blind eyes cannot see the "joy that was set before Him," that joy which made Him "despise the shame and endure the cross."

In that "joy" was and is the death of Phariseeism and the saving of women like her.

Has Forgotten Magdalene.

She has forgotten that among the ancestors of Jesus was a fallen woman, that the first person to whom He appeared after the resurrection was Mary Magdalene, a woman who had sinned. Tradition says she was of wonderful culture and refinement. Jesus came upon her crying near His empty tomb, and the glad joy of her greeting "Rabboni," "Teacher," thrills today after all these ages.

She, like us, must look to the "Teacher" of fallen women.

Her sin differs only in kind from ours. In God's sight she is no worse than any other unrepentant man or woman. And he or she who does not gladly welcome her back to life sins more deeply than she has ever done.

She makes the mistake of the woman of Samaria, a fallen woman, who could not understand how Jesus would speak to her.

But Jesus said to her, "If thou knewest the gift of God and who it is that saith to thee, 'Give me to drink' thou wouldst have asked of Him and He would have given thee living water."

Further He said: "Every one that drinketh of this water shall thirst again; but whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst, but the water that I give him shall become in him a well of water springing up into eternal life."

Seeks the Easy Way.

The woman said: "Sir, give me this water that I thirst not neither come all the way hither to draw."

She was seeking only an easy way to live.

He was trying to give her eternal life.

And so He gave her the first taste of the water of life. He made her confess to Him and to herself her sin, that sin which is committed night after night in the houses.

Straightway, like this woman of today, the one of long ago tried to change the subject, to get away from her sin by discussing something which had nothing to do with the question.

Then came to her, whether she would have it or no, the second taste of the water of life, that truth which will eventually drive Phariseeism from the world together with the sin of the woman: "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

Means Death to Them.

Though it may seem easier to this woman to live in the houses and make no effort to be what God would have her, a pure woman, that way means death.

Though it may seem easier to those who control her through friendship or otherwise to keep her there, that way means death to them.

Though it may seem easier to the Pharisees to leave her there and draw immaculate garments aside, that means death to them.

God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship in spirit and in truth.

That means eternal life.

All other ways eternal death.

Which is preferable?

Cynicism and hardness of heart would disappear, all save the voice of Jesus calling, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," would be silenced in Atlanta could this woman and this city see tonight only one of today's heartbreaking scenes.

A crying girl in one of the houses threw her arms about a woman worker and begged to be taken home. This was done. The worker carried her to the home in Atlanta's suburbs. There, when she came with the girl, she found her mother on her knees praying to God to bring home to her her daughter.

Rejoicing is in that home and in Heaven tonight.

May God open the eyes of this woman to her wonderful opportunities. Like the woman of Samia, like the Magdalene, she could be a power for good in Atlanta today in saving fellow creatures from that which she with her culture knows leads only to a living death.

The way is not easy.

That of Jesus to the cross was not so.

And those who follow after will find it hard, but there is no other way home to our Father.

God grant that the woman and all other men and women in Atlanta come with us upon it.

MARION JACKSON.

CHAMBER PLANS CIVIC REVIVAL

A great civic revival for Atlanta received an impetus yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the executive committee of the chamber of commerce.

In a splendid speech President Wilmer L. Moore outlined the whole plan for bringing about a great reformation in city affairs, modeled after the plan of Chicago, which contemplates the expenditure of over $200,000,000, and similar plans adopted by Boston, Baltimore and other cities.

Led by City Chambers.

"In many of these cities the work was undertaken by agitation through the chamber of commerce," said President Moore, "and it is the proper sphere for such a body as this to discuss plans by which the expenditures and work of the city may be directed for many years."

The first big event in this campaign will be a membership dinner to be held in Taft hall Tuesday evening, October 8, at 6:30 o'clock.

To this dinner will be invited every member of the chamber of commerce—and there are 800 of them—and the mayor and council of Atlanta.

The meeting promises to be one of the largest ever held. The subject for discussion will be the proposition to increase the tax rate of the city of Atlanta from 1¼ per cent to 1½ per cent. Believing that the chamber of commerce should furnish an open forum for the discussion by its members of important public measures proposed for the city, the executive committee has selected this subject and will invite a full and free discussion at the dinner next Tuesday week.

Plan General Discussion.

It is expected that the discussion will be opened on the affirmative and negative sides by two of the leading citizens of Atlanta, who will outline the argument pro and con. When this has been done, the meeting will be thrown open for five-minute speeches by the members. It is proposed to enforce strictly the five-minute rule after the opening speeches and this will give opportunity for a large number to express themselves. Every speaker will choose his own side, so that the real sentiment of the gathering will come to the surface.

Further plans for the proposed civic revival will be announced at an early date, and it is the intention of the chamber of commerce workers to crystallize public sentiment in favor of intelligent and comprehensive work by the municipality upon a large scale, following a general plan carefully worked out by competent men after a thorough survey and study of the city.

The executive committee adopted resolutions pledging its co-operation with the Atlanta section of the American Chemical society in making arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting chemists constituting part of the International Chemical association, who will visit Atlanta on October 16. J. S. Brogdon and N. P. Pratt appeared before the committee.

THEATERS

"Mutt and Jeff."

(At the Atlanta.'

The pruning knife worked wonders with "Mutt and Jeff," that hilarious musical comedy, since it was first sent to Atlanta by Gus Hill, and the result is really pleasing. The cast is, in many respects, superior to that of last year, and although the reception accorded the production last night was a bit chilly at first, when the real clever business cropped out, the audience warmed right up to the principals and many of the tuneful numbers were recalled again and again. The characters are all cleverly drawn. The crude stuff has been trimmed as neatly as you please, and just enough horseplay has been left in to keep Bud Fisher's funny character creations in the spotlight.

Two persons in the cast eclipse all others by reason of their irresistible charm and cleverness, and stand head and shoulders above the rest. Miss Hazel Tupper, the maid, and Mildred Warren, the jealous heiress, inject a freshness and audacity into the production that is delicious. There are several others in the cast who stand out prominently, but it was Miss Tupper, pretty, graceful and vivacious, who drew the audience when she sang "Tale of the Mermaid." She has a pleasing mezzo soprano voice and a pair of impish eyes and lips that are positively irresistible. Miss Warren is splendid. There are other good spots in the cast. Edwin Lyle is only fair. He is not a good actor and is ungraceful. Ed West makes a fair Mutt, and Jerry Sullivan, abbreviated by nature, is naturally funny as Little Jeff.

The scenic effects are dazzling, and the chorus is way above the average. Taken all in all, "Mutt and Jeff" was staged with a disregard of expense and is bound to appeal to the most cynical of Atlanta theatergoers. The house was convulsed from the outset, and the laughter was of the contagious quality that spread to every part of the house. Two more performances will be given, matinee and Saturday night.

"The Little Tenderfoot."

(At the Lyric.)

"The Little Tenderfoot" appeals to every man as well as to every woman. It not only entertains, but grips, and is replete with characters drawn from life. The author has chosen a theme that is startling, but to which people can listen without feeling that their intelligence has been insulted. It is not often that a play involves so many characters, each of which is absolutely essential to the story. "The Little Tenderfoot" will be the attraction at the Lyric next week.

PASSING OF VICE DISTRICT

DON'T BELIEVE THEY HAD SQUARE DEAL

AS WOMEN OCCUPANTS SEE IT

Clad in clinging robes of silk, some soft of hue and wrought with the daintiest traceries of embroidery, and others emblazoned in the elaborate blue and gold designs of the Orient, the women of Atlanta's regregated district have passed most of their time for the past few afternoons and evenings in social calls, discussing "the situation."

In little clusters they sit and talk among themselves, gazing idly as a committee from the Men and Religion Forward Movement passes by or enters a house to talk to some fallen girl. Occasionally a trim little woman in a natty traveling suit passed out of the house, pausing a moment to bid farewell to the groups of women on the verandas, and catching a cab for the station.

With just this much lack of demonstration the passing of the district was regarded at Manhattan avenue's 5 o'clock tea yesterday.

Naturally, though, the "passing" was the topic of all conversation.

Was Mistake Made?

"I think," added one woman, "that the reformers and city authorities have made a mistake in their methods. There are men behind that movement who have brains enough to recognize our existence as a necessary evil, and to realize how nearly impossible it is for us to lead anything but a miserable life outside of this business. Why, then, have they not placed us under close surveillance with all necessary restrictions and sanitary conditions, and gone directly to the root of the matter—the cheap hotels, low vaudeville houses, and resorts of this sort, which they know are feeders to our business?

"They claim to show by their statistics that women of our sort live an average life of about five years. It seems to me, then, that the logical way to have gone about the matter would have been to strike at the source of it, just as the city fights tuberculosis, or typhoid. It would be a simple matter for the police to secure the name and an accurate description of each inmate of these houses, as well as their number, and by keeping check on them prevent anyone else from becoming an inmate.

"Of course, it is not my business to wage scientific war on anything for the city; but I just believe I've got sense enough to see that a scientific method is the only way to handle the situation. The fact that they have gone about it like a bull in a china shop, however, does not lessen the problems that we have to solve as a result."

One little woman, with eyes as blue as the smoke which curled from her dainty cigarette, who had long lain silent in the cushioned depths of a big wicker chair, finally shifted her position nervously and asked a question which brought up a serious discussion.

"Mame," she said, as she flicked away her cigarette, "do you think, on the level, we've got exactly a square deal in this clean-up?"

Mame was old in the game and she looked at the wisp of a girl intently for a moment to see that she was really in earnest.

Chief Had the Right.

"Not exactly, kid," she replied. "It's a cinch Chief Beavers has got the right to close us up whenever he feels like it, but I think he took us at a disadvantage by puttin' on the lid on such short notice. Where you goin'? What you goin' to do? How much money you got?"

"Dunno," was the laconic reply.

"Sure, you don't," continued the elder woman. "That's just the trouble. The help offered by this 'vice commission' is all right, but how are they to know what we want to do, when we don't know ourselves? Now, if Chief Beavers had given us, say, thirty days' notice, we would have had time to sort o' plan ahead what was best to do."

"More time," chorused several. "That is what we ought to have to make it a square deal."

"Suppose we took the advice of the committees that come down here and offer us work if we will reform—what do we get?" said a big brunette, with a glint of fire in her deep dark eyes.

"Why, we get a job at four, or maybe six, dollars a week," volunteered one, "and I know what that means. I tried that before I came here. The people that are offerin' us these princely wages never knew what it was to want in their lives, and they can't understand. Of course, they mean well—I talked to the lady who came in here a while ago, an' she was the sweetest, dearest, kindest woman I have heard speak in many a day—but she nor the rest of them can understand what it means.

What Kind of Jobs?

"Then, suppose we took the jobs they offer us. What sort of companionship or sympathy would we get out of the girls we had to work with? I can see 'em pointin' their fingers at us now and turnin' up their noses. I've seen 'em do it before when a girl come around that was a little 'queer.' An' if they gave us work in their own homes—which none of 'em ain't goin' to do—we, who have been used to every luxury that they themselves enjoy, would get to wash the dishes and scrub the floors. Not for little Mabel!"

"You're right, Mabel," came from one in the porch swing. "Here's something that worries me, too. I owe lots of money to these peddlers, and I know lots of other girls do. They come around here with their good-looking stuff and tell us to take it and pay when we can, then they hound the life out of us. One of them attached my trunk two or three weeks ago and I haven't ever been able to get it back. I wish I knew whether he had a right to do that by the law."

"Well, in a case like that," advised Mabel, "I don't see but one thing to do, and that's to let the peddler have back any stuff you've got that he can sell again and then call up Chief Beavers and ask him to help you get your trunk. The chief is white enough to do anything he can for us girls, an' I know it."

"I owe my landlady about $100," said one girl.

"Well, as far as that's concerned," some one answered, "there's not a landlady on the line who wouldn't let us go away owin' her money if she thinks we're on the square."

Bitterness of It.

As the conversation drifted along it was not without its outbursts of bitterness, strongly spiced from prolific vocabularies of the underworld. Finally, though, the subject grew tiresome.

Presently a young girl climbed nimbly through the window and sat down at the piano.

"I'm goin' to end this meetin'," she cried flippantly, "with a little ditty entitled 'The Mystery of the Kitchen, or Who's Goin' to Cook on Peachtree Street?'"

Thus Manhattan avenue expresses its mind on the subject.

POLICE CHIEF'S ACTION COMMENDED BY CHURCH

At the prayer meeting of the Central Congregational church Wednesday evening the stand taken by Chief of Police J. L. Beavers was heartily indorsed by the congregation, and resolutions were passed commending the order of the chief of police and the position taken by Judge Broyles.

Dr. G. L. Hanscom's subject for Sunday evening will be, "The Houses in Our Midst and the Recent Action Against Them."

The minister and members of the Central Congregational church have been following the splendid work done by the Men and Religion Forward Movement, heartily indorsing all the advertising and actions that have been taken on this vital subject, and rejoice in the final decision that our courageous officials have taken in this matter, which means so much to the growth, prosperity and future of our beloved city.

The subject of Dr. Hanscom's sermon Sunday morning will be, "God's Standard of Righteousness and Its Response in the Soul of Man."

WOMEN SEEK POSITIONS TO LEAD BETTER LIVES

Two worn and jaded inmates of resorts on Peters street walked into police headquarters last night, inquired for Chief Beavers and, finding him gone, were carried in to Assistant Chief Jett.

They told him they were tired of careers in houses of sin and shame, and that they wanted to take advantage of the opportunity offered for reforms.

The elder of the two women said she hoped to secure respectable employment so that she might rebuild her character fit to recover her child, of which she had been deprived by her mother and brother.

Both of the waywards were willing to enter any phase of life that was more uplifting than their places in the underworld. Tears welled into their eyes as they praised Chief Beavers for wiping out the tenderloin, and for planning the proposed campaign against vice. Early this morning the pair will be carried to the temporary rescue headquarters of the Men and Religion Movement in the Gould building.

DEATH SENTENCE GIVEN TO SEPTUAGENARIAN

Knoxville, Tenn., September 27.—Andy J. Hickson, aged 70, whose hair is snow white, was sentenced to death at Newport today for the murder of Jesse B. Huff, who was shot and killed in Cocke county early in the spring. The murder was shown by the testimony to be a cold-blooded one, Judge Carlock, in sentencing the prisoner stating that it was without warrant or the slightest provocation.

PRAISE FOR BEAVERS IN 35 BAPTIST CHURCHES

Straight and solid behind Chief Beavers and the Men and Religion Movement is the line Dr. John E. White announces for his sermons Sunday. His subject Sunday night will be, "Overcoming the 'Gates of Hell in Atlanta,'" from the text: "Be not overcome with evil, but overcome evil with good." He also announces that thirty-five Baptist pastors in the city have also been interviewed, who from their pulpits next Sunday will voice the gratitude of Christian Atlanta to Chief James Beavers and the police department. The Baptists have fifty-two churches in their Atlanta Baptist association, with a church membership of 16,500.

PURITAN AGAINST MONK SUBJECT OF DR. BRICKER

Dr L. O. Bricker has announced two sermon subjects for Sunday at the First Christian church which will crowd that church to the doors. The subject of his morning sermon is, "The Puritan versus the Monk," or "What Shall Be the Attitude of Good People Toward the Sin and Shame of Atlanta?"

At 8 o'clock the second sermon in the popular series, "Between John and Mary," will be given, the subject being, "Her Royal Highness, Mary." In spite of the rain on last Sunday evening, a huge audience was present to hear the opening sermon.

Vote for Steve R. Johnston for Mayor. He is worthy and well qualified.

ROBERT CUNNINGHAM.
Whose Practical Business Training, Given Him by the Southern Shorthand and Business University, Is Complimented by His New Employer.

SEVERAL OTHER STUDENTS OF SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE SECURE SPLENDID POSITIONS

While Many New Pupils Are Enrolling at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, Every Day the Old Ones Are Going Out Into Fine Positions.

Still they come to the Southern Business College!

This month records the largest September enrollment, by this well-known school, since the year 1906.

This is, indeed, a significant fact.

It means that the old "Southern" is more popular than ever.

That its everlasting insistence upon thoroughness of training has made the business men its friends.

That, as a natural consequence, the Southern's graduates are sought for and are offered the very best positions in the gift of the business world.

This is why the Southern's attendance is as large as the combined attendance of all other business colleges of Atlanta.

Among the several students who have recently accepted positions is Mr. Robert Cunningham, who has just gone with the W. E. Johnson Cotton Company, of Bowden, Ga. Under date of September 11, Mr. Cunningham writes an interesting letter to the Southern, as follows:

"I got to Bowden all O. K. and like it splendidly.

"The first letter dictated to me was a long one, and when I finished it, my employer wanted to know if I had not been studying punctuation, for he said it was just fine.

"I met a young man on the train who said that he was going to take a business course, and requested me to have you send him a catalogue. I inclose his name and address."

Yes, the Southern teaches punctuation, as well as a lot of other things, along with shorthand and bookkeeping. It has plenty of teachers; therefore, can well afford to teach these other important branches which are so often neglected in some schools.

Best in the United States.

In a letter received today the writer says:

"Your school has been recommended to me by one of the court reporters of Atlanta as being the best in the South, and your system of shorthand as being the best in the United States. Mail me your catalogue."

In another letter just received from a former pupil, he writes:

"Having studied at your school and knowing its merits as I do, I have recommended your training as the best to the president of our bank here, who will very likely send his son to your school."

Are you going to attend a business college?

If so, settle the matter as to where you will go by making inquiry among Atlanta's prominent business men concerning the standing and work of the various business schools—there'll be no trouble then. It's worth a lot to attend a school with a reputation like the "Southern's."

Enter now. Call or write for catalogue.

We, the undersigned citizens and registered voters of Atlanta, having confidence in his ability and integrity, heartily indorse STEVE R. JOHNSTON for Mayor.

And just look who's here!

The bull moose comes a far way to salute the democratic donkey.

Taft met Wilson as cheerfully as he could, under the circumstances.

Only when there's nothing else left to take do the trusts take the stand.

If there's one good trust it doesn't waste valuable time boasting about it.

Taft strikes cold days, and no rolling chair ever was known to cut any ice.

Coal had to follow suit and go higher. You can't keep it in the cellar.

In this busy, crowded season there is no room for an Ananias club in Georgia.

Still, if the railroads can't haul the crops we may be able to use them at home.

The Harvester trust is the good trust that battles for the moose at Armageddon.

As Georgia is one of the Colonel's home states he needn't worry about his welcome.

The Colonel will not set the woods afire, because he's in favor of forest preservation.

And here's the hat that was in the ring, looking none the worse for the wear and tear.

By this time George W. Perkins' check book must be suffering from wear and tear.

The people are too busy to swallow all the campaign remedies for the high cost of living.

The increased cost of living may be responsible for the straw hat with last year's overcoat.

General Grant's face will appear on the new $10,000 bills. (We shall not see General Grant's face.)

Having spent the vacation cash leaves one in the right frame of mind to quarrel with the coal man.

Mexico isn't different. They are having the same trouble there with the formation of a third party.

No doubt, for one day the red bandanna will do its best to make up for the early autumn deficiency in color.

Now, do you thing Mr. Lawson will bring the cost of living far enough down for one to get on speaking terms with it?

Of course, the Harvester trust will answer the suit brought against it. That is, it will be in court in time to "disremember."

With so many circle swings to their credit it ought to be an easy matter for the eminent candidates to give the voters a whirl.

Atlanta has a pretty lively campaign of her own, but she will call a halt long enough to hear the Colonel's confession of faith.

A German inventor proposes to put people to sleep by electricity, and of course, some one will object that that would be a shocking method.

The Georgia bands may not play "Garry Owen" for the Colonel, but he probably knows "Dixie" by heart, and it is now as national as "The Starspangled Banner."

THE L'ESTRANGES OF TODAY.

It was not until after the reigns of James I. and Charles I., and after Cromwell and the Long Parliament that there was anything like a free press in England. The right of rigid censorship was stoutly maintained as a royal prerogative before Cromwell and under his administration the principle was established even more emphatically.

In 1663 Sir Roger L'Estrange, a smart but unscrupulous British politician, wrote:

> A public mercury (or newspaper) should never have my vote because it makes the multitude too familiar with the actions and counsels of their superiors, and gives them not only an itch, but a kind of colorable right and license to be meddling with the government."

Two and a half centuries later, after the spirit of L'Estrange has been scourged from a monarchy, its ghost reappears in our own congress, which assumedly operates under a democratic form of government. For proof, witness the inquisitorial law passed at the recent session of congress, aimed explicitly at newspapers and now upheld by the attorney general who had no alternative under the law. This new and inexcusable statute subjects newspapers to an ordeal visited upon no other form of legitimate business in America.

Nineteen out of twenty newspapers in America would of their own volition cheerfully supply such information as the law requires upon occasions justifying its display, and to persons with the right to know or with an interest in knowing. All of them will comply with the peremptory demand, because it is the law. But it is a safe assertion that not one will do so with complacency, because it is gained by undemocratic coercion, and, most important, because every one of them realizes the petty animus behind this baiting of the press and the restriction placed upon its freedom.

The country would not tolerate the actual repression of the press so enthusiastically advocated by L'Estrange in 1663. But, under a thin disguise, the spirit of L'Estrange and his sovereign contempt for the "multitude" that would be "too familiar with the actions and counsels of their superiors," is visible in this ambushed censorship. The little clique of modern L'Estranges in congress resent the "colorable right and license" of the press or the people to be "meddling with the government." Enough L'Estranges in the recent congress squirmed under candid and wholesome press criticism to jam through an utterly unreasonable and unjustifiable thrust at the press—for the new law is, in effect, an implied threat—dangerous not so much in itself as for its intent.

Had the press, which is simply the voice and watchdog of the people, handled congress with platitudinous compliments, sprinkled rose-water over its shortcomings and deceived its constituents, all would have been well. But the press, irrespective of partisanship, had a duty to perform. Upon the conscientious discharge of that duty depends the cleanliness and efficiency of government. And, with entire justice to congressmen and entire justice to the people, the duty has been discharged to the uttermost detail.

It has been too well discharged to suit the L'Estranges in congress. Too many delinquent congressmen have been exposed. Too many congressional abuses have been ventilated. What L'Estrange called the "colorable right and license to meddle with the government" has been too freely exercised for the convenience of those in Washington who hold themselves "superior" to "the multitude." The gag-order offered an excellent means for retaliation, a splendid chance to "hit back" without practicing actual suppression of the news, an ideal opening for petty persecution!

The proscription holds too grave a menace to last. For if it is established that congress can threaten the newspapers, there will be centralized at Washington material for tyranny and suppression worse than now prevails in Russia. Newspapers would be subject to a state of terrorism, where they would be afraid to whisper a word of public criticism. And the whole thing, if long tolerated, would surely prove the wedge for outright censorship and suppression.

The public may be expected to smash L'Estrangism. But the attitude of congress, in imposing it, is one of the sorriest and most short-sighted exhibitions of "statesmanship" in many a decade.

REFORMING JUSTICE COURT SYSTEM.

The Atlanta bar as a body has issued a strong and logical appeal to the justices of the peace in Georgia for their support of the constitutional amendment, to be voted on Wednesday, providing machinery for revising the justice court system in the larger cities of the state. The arguments advanced apply with equal pertinence to Georgians generally who want to see law administered, especially to the poorer classes of the state, efficiently and with justice.

The admendment would affect only towns of 20,000 population and more. It would in no wise interfere with the justice court system as it now prevails in smaller places or in the country districts, where, as the pamphlet states, the justice of the peace discharges properly the functions designed for him under the constitution. It is only in cities of large population and complicated legal problems, such as Atlanta, that the evils and inadequacy of the system have been grievously manifest.

It is useless for The Constitution to recite the abuses and inequalities that have grown out of the justice courts in Atlanta. In many cases, rich and prominent citizens have suffered indignity and injustice because of the overlapping jurisdiction and the wide latitude of the courts. But in the overwhelming number of instances, the poorer classes have furnished most of the victims. Unable, as a rule, to employ counsel and ignorant of their rights under the law, there is no question that they have been again and again subject to oppression and downright confiscation.

The amendment does not arbitrarily wipe out such courts even in cities exceeding 20,000. It simply provides that the legislature may, upon the petition of such cities, substitute for the justice courts one or two central municipal courts, with exactly defined powers. It is to be hoped that the amendment will be overwhelmingly ratified, since it is a distinct advance toward that judicial reform need for which is universally recognized. The influence of the country justices, themselves immune from the provisions of the amendment, will be of material aid in insuring indorsement at the polls.

The Billville Banner.

The Bull Moose party has declined our invitation to visit Billville, but it's all right; and anyway, we are too old to be swatted into the Ananias club. We'll have to get along as best we can with the old, reliable democratic mule, that is still keen enough to see a lightning flash coming and kick it back to where it came from.

It is fortunate for us that campaign speakers are not burning the woods, as we will need them for fuel this winter.

Seeking office is hunting trouble, and some of them hereabouts are getting plenty of it.

  Dreams and gleams entrancing;
Play that lively tune once more
  And keep the Good Times dancing!

When the Candidates Come.

"Candidates might contribute to the welfare of the country if they'd take their own advice and get back to the soil in the plowing season," says The Adams Enterprise, "but they never take the home-road until the crop's laid by and there's a prospect of Plenty on the table. Then they come in droves, to say grace and pass their plates for more."

RECEIVER EXPLAINS $4,000 DELEON DEBT

The liability of $4,000 shown in the statement of debts of the estate of Moise DeLeon, the contractor who mysteriously disappeared from Atlanta several weeks ago, is explained by H. L. Fraser, one of the receivers, to be a loan made by Mrs. Henrietta D. Seixas to DeLeon about four years ago.

The transaction is not explained in the report of the auditors, and in view of the fact that DeLeon was executor of the estate of Mrs. Seixas for a few months before his disappearance, Mr. Fraser believes that the public should have all the facts in connection with the affair.

The loan was made by Mrs. Seixas herself three years before her death.

Judge Pendleton has signed the order discharging the receivers from further obligation in the matter of the DeLeon estate, but Judge Newman, of the federal court, has again appointed Messrs. Fraser and Roland Ransome receivers on the application of creditors filed in the federal court.

DeLeon has not been heard from since he disappeared in Chicago August 8 last past.

MOULTRIE STRANDED BY FIERCE FLOODS

Moultrie, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—The extent of the damage done by the floods of the first part of the week is just being realized as reports come in from the country. Those from the eastern part of the county report every bridge gone and embankments leading to the bridges washed out in many places. Travel by buggy is exceedingly uncertain and by automobile entirely impossible.

Not a train has come into Moultrie from Nashville over the Georgia and Florida railway since Sunday night, and the probability is there will be none before Monday of next week. The damage to the cotton crop is hard to estimate, though it is known to be very heavy; hay is hurt badly, as many tons was on the ground ready to be hauled and baled and packed away when the trains came. All of this will be a total loss. Other crops have suffered correspondingly.

Letters From People

As to State Taxation.

Editor Constitution: While I am only a private citizen, a taxpayer, I like to know that every citizen has a square deal. Our taxes should be equalized so that the burden of taxation would fall on all alike. The state, in my humble judgment, could be furnished with a sufficient money if the taxes were equalized so that the "tax dodger" who is undervaluing his property should be made to give in his property at a just and equitable value. I believe that the tax digest would show a valuation of one and one-half billions instead of the present valuation of $900,000,000. Put the 5 mills on the true valuation and $7,500,000 taxes will be the result. That seems to be enough for the state purposes without the other taxes the state raises.

Our taxes should be equalized and economy exercised in the appropriations. There is no place for extravagance in the state's money. We should elect members to the general assembly who have the nerve to hold down extravagant appropriations, also to appoint a "board of equalizers" to equalize the taxes. I believe that Georgia can raise $8,500,000 if all the taxpayers were made to come up to their duty.

Why should Georgia owe $8,000,000? If the taxes were properly assessed $1,000,000 should be paid back yearly until all the debt is paid. Then we would have one magnificent railroad unincumbered.

BLACKBURN'S TRIBUTE TO COL. ROOSEVELT

Editor Constitution: I desire to say a word as a democrat in regard to the coming of Colonel Roosevelt to Atlanta. I think it due this distinguished American that he be accorded a wholesouled welcome when he arrives in Atlanta tomorrow night. He is essentially a man of accomplishment and all fair-minded men are obliged to reserve unto him first place in the citizenship of the world.

I hold him in personal esteem for the reason that he is a man of courage and justice. A case in point should attract to him the personal indorsement of the best thought of the south: I had requested two presidents to replace the name "Jefferson Davis" on Cabin John bridge, whence it was chiseled by the partisans of the north at the time Mr. Davis was elected president of the confederacy. It will be recalled that Mr. Davis built this bridge, while secretary of war, under the Pierce administration. The two presidents to whom I made my first appeals, Grover Cleveland and William McKinley, acknowledged my letters, but did nothing.

Theodore Roosevelt was appealed to before he left the president's office, and, feeling a little nervous over the probable outcome, I asked my friend and his friend, Colonel Norwood Mitchell, of Atlanta, to call attention to my request on the occasion of an expected trip to Washington. On his return Colonel Mitchell informed me that President Roosevelt had promised to execute the order, which was soon done, and I had the pleasure of seeing the name of the great southern chieftain placed back to fill the long-vacant space that had been left by bitterness and injustice.

He is the only man in America who, as president, would have displayed the courage and justice necessary to pass such an order. For this alone he will ever hold my strong admiration, and for this alone he deserves the personal regard of the entire south.

In addition, I believe in the political sincerity of Colonel Roosevelt and I believe thoroughly in his political manhood. No other candidate for president, of any party, has ever announced in favor of eliminating negro control and affiliation in the south. This is a step in favor of Caucasian government that not even a democratic candidate has been bold enough and true enough to take.

Colonel Roosevelt is a broad, nonsectional American, who is yet sympathetic enough to respect the higher standards of all the sections separately. He is a marvelous, a patriotic, and a necessary personality.

BENJAMIN M. BLACKBURN.

Atlanta, September 27.

"GAINING EVERY DAY," SAY JOHNSTON'S FRIENDS

As Steve R. Johnston in his race for mayor is not making any speeches, his campaign committee is speaking for him by statements which they send out from headquarters. Mr. Johnston is the only candidate for mayor who is not making speeches.

His committee made the following statement Friday:

"We are gaining every day. The voters of Atlanta—the conservative business element—who are tired and disgusted with political scheming and manipulators, are tendering their votes and support to Steve Johnston for mayor. They say he will give them a clean, business administration and that he will reflect credit on Atlanta at home or abroad, as he always has done. When the votes are counted he will be in the lead as the 'business mayor' of Atlanta."

IMPATIENCE OF JUROR BRINGS ABOUT MISTRIAL

A mistrial was entered in the trial of Patsey Garey, an alleged negro burglar, because one of the jurors became impatient at the slow progress of the trial, and suggested that the prisoner plead guilty.

The juror was John H. James, recent candidate for railroad commissioner. While Solicitor Dorsey was examining a witness, he made the remark that the prisoner had not only pawned the jewelry he is alleged to have stolen, but that he was in the pawning business by the wholesale.

"That's right," agreed James; "why don't he plead guilty?"

The attorneys representing the negro were quick to grasp the situation, and pleaded with Judge Ellis to order a mistrial entered in the case. The court took the same view as the defense, and, after a long parley on both sides, the mistrial was ordered.

FIVE JEWEL BURGLARIES REPORTED TO THE POLICE

Five jewel burglaries were reported to police headquarters yesterday morning and a squad of detectives has been set to work to apprehend the burglars, who for the past several days have been invading private residences of the city.

The burglaries were reported by Captain N. H. Bankhead, Fort McPherson, three diamond studs and a stick pin; B. W. Fish, 195 Ashby street, jewelry; Charles W. Williams, sixteen gold pins and several other articles of jewelry; Mrs. J. Blanchard, 8 West Ellis street, rings and other jewels, and J. F. Jackson, East avenue, $780 worth of jewelry.

MRS. FRANCES V. TEDDER FREE ON HABEAS CORPUS

The writ of habeas corpus applied for in behalf of Mrs. Frances V. Tedder, under indictment by the grand jury for killing her husband last July, was granted yesterday by Judge Ellis, and the accused woman was released from custody on a bond of $1,000 signed by I. C. Clark. Mrs. Tedder will operate a boarding house to raise the money to pay the expense of her trial. She has retained Messrs. Moore and Branch.

The killing of Tedder by his wife followed a quarrel at their home in Pitman alley. According to the story of the woman, Tedder left home early on the night of July 24 and returned after midnight. He was intoxicated, and in an ugly mood. Mrs. Tedder upbraided him, and he struck her. A few minutes later he went to the trunk, saying that he wanted to search for a collar button. He grabbed a pistol from the tray and attempted to shoot the woman. She grabbed the hand that held the weapon, and, in the scuffle that followed, the weapon exploded.

Tedder died in the Grady hospital several days after the shooting. He made several conflicting statements of the tragedy. His wife has stuck to the story that the shooting occurred in a struggle for the pistol. The grand jury took up her case last week, and returned a true bill. Her attorneys set about to secure her release on a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted.

PRES. TAFT SURE TO WIN SAYS POSTMASTER M'KEE

Postmaster McKee is home from Washington, after a trip on official business with the postoffice department. During his stay in Washington Mr. McKee passed the greater part of his time with Postmaster General Hitchcock and Dr. Granfield, first assistant to the postmaster general, working out plans to better the postal service in Atlanta.

"Since the beginning of the current fiscal year," said Postmaster McKee, "we have found many things to attract our attention, because many of them needed at least a fuller understanding, if not a remedy. Of course, it has been generally known our appropriation has been too small to meet the increased demands, and yet we have been struggling to give the people we serve the very best possible work we could render. Not only Atlanta, but every city in the country has felt the results of the short appropriation; but we have all been doing the best we could, and it would astonish the casual observer to really know the greatly increased benefits they have been receiving.

"Election? There's but one thing to it. Mr. Taft is growning stronger and stronger every day, and, as I see it, he is sure to win. Everyone with whom I talked, and I talked to lots of people, are not only sure that Mr. Taft will win, but are growing more and more enthusiastic every day."

AMERICUS INFANTRY CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Americus, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—The Americus light infantry celebrated with a banquet tonight the company's thirtieth anniversary as one of the state's military commands. Two hundred guests assembled around the banquet board, including officers of the Albany Guards. Eloquent addresses were delivered by Congressman Charles Crisp, Mayor Edward Mathis, Judge John A. Cobb and former Representatives Nisbet and Wheatley. The speakers were introduced by Captain James Fort. The roll call of the old guard members, serving in years past, was an impressive feature. The program was concluded with an exhibition drill by the light infantry.

WINDER'S BOOSTERS ARE ADVERTISING THEIR FAIR

Winder, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—A party of boosters are out from Winder this week traversing a wide section of northeast Georgia in the interest of the Tri-County fair to be held here October 8-11, inclusive. In the party were G. W. Woodruff, president of the Tri-County Fair association; S. E. Sharpton, Ralph Sharpton, A. J. Woodruff and T. O. Fisher.

Monday they covered 88 miles, visited fifteen towns and spent the night in Greensboro. Tuesday they visited the towns along the Georgia railroad, and spent the night in Atlanta. Wednesday they followed the Southern railroad to Toccoa.

The party is meeting with a hearty reception, and are assured of a large crowd during the fair. They will return to Winder the latter part of this week, and start again Monday on a second lap, visiting the towns nearer by. Over a hundred places will be visited, and more than five hundred miles will be covered during the two trips.

SPEED RECORDS BROKEN WHEN PISTOL DRIVES

Savannah, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Because he had the muzzle of a revolver at the head of a negro chauffeur and forced him to drive his automobile more than 60 miles an hour through the deserted streets of Savannah and to a road house during the early morning, M. L. Rivenbark, from Effingham county, was fined $30 or three months today by Judge Freeman in the city court.

Rivenbark was intoxicated and forced the negro driver to give a good imitation of Barney Oldfield.

Rivenbark declared he had no recollection of his wild midnight ride, but it was vividly described by the chauffeur.

EMPLOYEE OF 15 YEARS GUILTY OF ROBBING

Savannah, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Fifteen years a foreman for the Central of Georgia Railway company, J. C. Stanfield, has confessed to the systematic robbery of tools owned by the railroad, and was today permitted to plead guilty to four of thirteen charges of larceny.

Stanfield offered no excuse for his thefts. He is a man of family and was well thought of by the railroad officials.

Because he saved the state the expense of a trial, he was let off with a fine of $200 or twelve months on the chaingang.

COLUMBUS PASTOR HAS ACCEPTED MACON CALL

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) Rev. R. C. Granberry, pastor of the Rose Hill Baptist church, in Columbus, today notified the officers of the Tattnall Square Baptist church in this city that he had decided to accept the call extended to him, and would take charge November 1. The call was extended by the local church last Sunday.

Gossip at the Capitol

Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet has secured the consent of a number of well-known attorneys of the state to co-operate with the attorney general in carrying out the resolution passed by the last legislature relative to the move to force the Georgia Railway and Power company to abandon its Tallulah Falls development.

The attorneys who will meet with Attorney General Felder at an early date and devise a plan of procedure are Watkins & Latimer, Atlanta; George M. Napier, Atlanta; J. H. Felker, Monroe; F. S. Foster, Madison; Charles G. Reynolds, Millen; E. K. Overstreet, Sylvania; R. C. Ellis, Tifton; W. R. Little, Carnesville and C. Graecon, of the state of Michigan.

Art Commission to Select Painting.

Governor Brown yesterday named Captain W. H. Harrison, Comptroller General William A. Wright and Professor J. T. Derry as a committee to co-operate with himself and the attorney general to pass upon the painting of Captain John McIntosh Kell, which the last legislature appropriated $500 to buy if the committee approved the work.

Bank of Jakin.

Application was made yesterday for a charter for the Bank of Jakin, in Early county, capitalized at $25,000. The incorporators are E. Hilton, R. O. Waters and C. L. Gleason, of Blakely.

SECOND NEWSPAPER FOR MOULTRIE FIELD

Moultrie, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—A corporation composed of many of the leading business and professional men of this city was organized today for the purpose of establishing another newspaper. The capital stock was fixed at $20,000 and the latest improved and most convenient equipment will be obtained for both departments. A job department will be connected.

The parties forming the organization are: A. Huber, lumberman and real estate owner; J. A. Carlton, president First National bank and Carlton Supply company; W. J. Matthews, president Matthews Trading company; C. W. Pidcock, president Georgia Northern railway; T. W. Mattox and E. L. Bryan, lawyers; R. J. Corbett, capitalist; G. F. Taylor, president and principal owner of the cotton seed oil mills, and W. F. Way, attorney.

The local field is now covered by only one paper, The Moultrie Observer, and owing to the rapid growth of the city and the wonderful development of the country district it is thought two papers will prosper.

SAYS DEBT WAS PAID, WOMAN SUES CREDITOR

Savannah, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—To prevent the sale of property in Dodge county under a mortgage held by the A. Leffler company of this city, because the debt has been paid, Mrs. Mamie Maloy, administratrix of the estate of her husband, William C. Maloy, has filed an injunction in the superior court.

It is also petitioned that the appointment of Jacob Gazan, as trustee to sell the property, be revoked. The petition shows that upon the death of Mr. Maloy, April 3, 1912, Mrs. Maloy was made administratrix.

The deceased had given two mortgages to the A. Leffler company, upon a house and real estate owned in Dodge county as securities for two notes aggregating $1,000 and an indebtedness of $2,098.33. The property has been advertised for sale on the second Tuesday in October. It is set forth in the petition that it is believed that the debt for which the mortgages was given have been paid. In the event of the sale of the property under the mortgage, it is set forth that the estate will become insolvent.

SONS OF JOVE TO ENJOY SMOKER THIS EVENING

The Rejuvenated Sons of Jove will be tendered a buffet dinner and stag smoker this evening, at the Transportation Club roof garden, by Statesman L. S. Montgomery, supreme officer of the order for the state of Georgia.

More than a hundred Atlanta electrical men are members of the order, which is a branch of the national organization. The object of the smoker is to wind up the affairs of the fiscal year and lay plans for the coming year.

During the week of October 14 the national convention of the Order of Rejuvenated Sons of Jove will be held in Pittsburg, Pa., and 1,500 electrical men from all parts of this country and Canada will be present. Several delegates from the Atlanta order will be in attendance.

CLIFFORD L. LOCHRIDGE IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Clifford L. Lochridge, popular advertising man hurt in a seven-story fall down the elevator shaft of the Masonic temple Thursday night, is still in a critical condition, with but little change in the outlook for his recovery.

In spite of intense suffering, due to his crushed leg, Mr. Lochridge remained conscious all Friday, and was very cheerful to the few visitors who were admitted to see him.

"Sure, I'm going to get well," was his invariable comment, delivered with the same old smile which has won him countless friends in the city.

It has been impossible for the physicians to put Mr. Lochridge on the operating table, but it is hoped that there will be no necessity for amputation.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE DEVOTED TO MURDERS

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey stated yesterday that the entire time of the criminal division of the superior court, presided over by Judge W. D. Ellis, would be devoted next week to the trial of murder cases.

There are a number of cases on the calendar which can be reached and disposed of unless something unforeseen turns up. The motion for a new trial for Robert Clay, a youg white man who killed his wife because he feared she would seek a divorce, will be heard Saturday.

STROMBOLI IN ACTION; VINEYARDS DESTROYED

Messina, September 27.—The volcano Stromboli again is in eruption. Cinders, ashes and incandescent sand are being ejected from nine craters and dust is falling in quantities over the surrounding country and outlying islands. Vineyards and crops generally are suffering heavily.

The spectacle of the volcano at night from passing steamers is magnificent.

CHAMBERS IS PUT IN ANANIAS CLUB

Woodward Charges Misstatements and Gives Records on Viaduct Matter.

"I want to ask you voters and taxpayers of Atlanta what kind of a city government do you want? Are you not tired of the way your public business has been transacted and mismanaged? I believe every taxpayer within the city limits is tired and weary and wants a change."

James G. Woodward began his Friday's speech in the fourth ward in a factory lot with the above question and then continued:

"Mr. Chambers in his speech last Wednesday night made the following statement:

"'When Mr. Woodward stated that the Butler street sewer was manipulated for political purposes, he stated a falsehood, and one that is easily proven to be such. Every energy of the sewer committee has been directed to the building of that sewer and work has been going on there for several weeks.'

Chambers the King Bee.

"You people of the fourth ward know whether or not he has spoken the truth. A very prominent citizen of this ward informs me that there has not been any work of any kind done on the Butler street sewer for the past month and that there is no cement or other kind of material there. This will show how truthful Mr. Chambers' statement is. He has said something about putting me in the Ananias club. Now you will see that he ought to be the king bee of that club as well as the king bee of the ring.

"Another statement that Mr. Chambers made in the same speech was in regard to the Washington street viaduct, alleging that not a penny of the cost was paid during my administration, and he exhibits another disregard for his word or an absolute lack of knowledge of the city's records."

Mr. Woodward read a statement from the comptroller which showed that during 1906, when Mr. Woodward was mayor, there was paid on the viaduct $50,443.29, which was the city's part, and a balance was carried over, but provided for by Mr. Woodward's administration, of $15,926.71. This was the total cost of the bridge which the city was to pay.

Declares There Is Ring.

Continuing, Mr. Woodward said:

"Mr. Chambers also states that there is no ring in council. I am informed by one of the council members, and a most reputable gentleman, that there has not been a board member elected this year who was not nominated by Mr. Chambers directly or through his dictation. Why, the ring became so openly notorious that Alderman Johnson on the floor of council denounced the leaders of the ring as the 'Young Turks.'

"So we have three of his statements refuted by the records and by indisputable facts. I want to ask you who belongs to the Ananias club?

"I tell you the ringsters may squirm and twist and turn and make misstatements, but the people are not going to be fooled or hoodwinked. They want a good business government and they are going to have it."

FRATERNITY HONORS MEMORY OF BUTT

Sewanee, Tenn., September 26.—(Special.)—The local chapter of Delta Tau Delta, the fraternity of which Major Archibald Butt was a member, this morning unveiled a memorial tablet to the memory of the hero of the Titanic disaster. The tablet was accepted on behalf of the university by Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, of Tennessee.

The inscription on the tablet follows:

"To commemorate the noble life and heroic death of Major Archibald Willingham Butt, U. S. A., an alumnus of Sewanee, who gave his life in the service of others on the Titanic, April XV., MCMXII., in the greatest disaster in marine history. This tablet is here placed by his brothers of Beta Theta chapter, Delta Tau Delta fraternity."

CHURCH WILL INSTITUTE MOTHERS' DEPARTMENT

Next Sunday in the Second Baptist Sunday school will be started what is an innovation in Atlanta Sunday schools, a mothers' department. The officers have been at work on this for some time and have enlisted a large number of mothers who are expected to be present on this occasion. A superintendent and secretary for this department will be appointed and hereafter it will become one of the regular departments of church work. A serious difficulty in the way of greater efficiency of the Sunday school is the lack of home interest and cooperation. Through this department it is hoped to overcome this obstacle. An interesting and entertaining program has been arranged. It will consist of an address by Dr. White and by other leaders in the movement, with special musical features. Miss Ione Newman, Sunday school field secretary, has been the moving spirit in the work.

AEROPLANE ARMADA REVIEWED IN FRANCE

Paris, September 27.—The first review ever held of a complete aeroplane armada took place this morning at Villacooublay, near Paris. Seventy-two French army flying machines with their full complements of pilots and observers and the attached park of motor trucks bearing supplies therefor passed in review before the French minister of war, Alexandre Millerand.

The airmen and their craft had just returned from the army maneuvers, at which they had achieved many triumphs. They made an imposing display when they lined up on the parade ground.

At the close of the review, M. Millerand made a speech in which he dwelt on his and the nation's determination to keep France in the forefront of aviation. He urged the officers to refrain from seeking publicity, which he said could only be harmful to the service.

AMERICAN RUNS AMUCK IN ENGLISH BARROOM

London, September 27.—A man who gave his name as Steven Titus and claimed to be an American citizen, today shot and seriously wounded four people with a revolver and for a time caused a semi-panic in the west end.

Titus, who speaks English poorly, had a dispute with a barmaid of the hotel where he was staying in the Tottenham court road. He drew his revolver and shot her and a second barmaid and then rushed to the street. On the way out he shot down two men who tried to stop him and also fired at a third man. He was finally overpowered by a passerby and arrested.

The man has apparently lost his reason. One of the barmaids late this afternoon died of her wounds.

AMERICAN IS KILLED AS HE SALUTES FLAG

San Diego, Cal., September 26.—The naval collier Justin arrived tonight, eleven days from Corinto. Captain Merriweather said that an American soldier of fortune named Thompson was killed in a spectacular manner while fighting with the federals in the streets of Laon. He was operating a rapid fire gun against a house in which were rebel riflemen. Behind him was the house of an American planter. The latter hoisted an American flag. The rebels, who had been shooting at the planter's house, suddenly stopped and Thompson turned around to ascertain the cause. Seeing the American flag he saluted. And as he did so an insurgent shot him dead.

Sheriff Stops Lynching.

Corliss, Wis., September 27.—A Racine sheriff and his deputy reached here late last night just as a crowd of men seemingly bent on lynching George Morton, accused of assault on a boy, were leading their prisoner to a coal hoist. The sheriff quieted the mob and rescued Morton.

CITY MUST BUILD FOR GOOD HEALTH

Dr. George Brown Sounds Note of Warning in Addressing Voters.

Dr. George Brown, candidate for mayor, addressed large crowds of voters yesterday at three different places, near the Terminal station, in the Georgia railroad yard and in the third ward.

During his speeches he said in substance:

"While all the agitation is going on concerning street improvements, sewers, sidewalks, curbing and other routine affairs, what has become of the average citizen? Where does he come in? What is this city government doing for him? Are they giving him free baths like other cities have? Are they giving him pure drinking water like other cities have.

"In answering this question, I will state that any passenger on the Southern railway train, coming from Washington to Atlanta, knows that the public comfort rooms on the train are locked between High Point and Greensboro, N. C., and it is impossible for any passenger to enter one. Why is this done? The track on the Southern railway is upon a ridge which sheds into the river which supplies these two towns with drinking water, and if this rule is violated the crew running the train is arrested the next day, as a watchman patrols this distance each day to see that no filth is dumped upon the tracks. Has anything ever been done to protect your drinking water here in this town? Absolutely nothing.

Drinking Water.

"New York goes ninety miles to get her supply of drinking water; Los Angeles goes over 200 miles to get pure water; is it any wonder that we have one of the highest death rates from typhoid fever in the world?

"What will streets and paving and curbing and viaducts do to save the life of your child or yourself when stricken with typhoid fever? This is a question that you will have to solve for yourself. You have allowed the politicians to run your town for fifty years. That is the condition we are in.

"Concerning the negro problem, nothing has been done to solve it. If my suggestion is followed out you will have absolute control of the servants in this town, and many a poor woman who is at present doing her own work would have the proper servant to do it had she the proper protection.

"In building a city you want to think of the unit—the individual. The name amounts to nothing, and the first question the voter should ask is, 'What has this individual or this city done to promote the health or happiness of my family?' We should build a city of homes first; that should be the keynote—healthy, happy homes, well protected, well policed, well lighted and well ventilated. After this take up the business problem, and common sense will work it out to the satisfaction of all."

Bank Cashier Skips.

Woodville, Miss., September 27.—The Bank of Woodville was temporarily closed today and the announcement was made at the same time that Ralph G. Jones, the cashier, had disappeared, leaving behind an alleged shortage of $10,000. It is said that the reported shortage is cared for by surety, and that the bank will be closed only for an investigation of its affairs.

BOY WINS IN FIGHT WITH WOUNDED BUCK

St. Rose, La., September 27.—Joe Chiulla, a boy still in his teens, but well grown, matched strength with a wounded buck near here yesterday and won. Chiulla was plowing. The deer, pursued by hunters and hounds, entered the field. The boy's dog attacked it. Though wounded, the hurt was only from a bullet through its right fore leg, and the deer, in frenzied fury, trampled his attacker underfoot.

Chiulla, unarmed, rushed in to save his dog. Seizing the buck by its antlers he threw all his strength into the struggle, and finally, the animal's strength having been sapped by loss of blood, bent the buck to the ground. The knife of one of the hunters who arrived at the moment ended the deer's struggle. Chiulla was uninjured.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH FOUNDS KINDERGARTEN

The kindergarten school recently launched by Dr. C. A. Ridley as a part of the institutional work of the Central Baptist church is attracting considerable attention. Dr. Ridley reports that out of a large class of little ones which gather each day in the Sunday school room of the church there are only three whose parents are able to pay the small charge of $3 per month. The attendance of the great majority of the children is made possible by the generous helpfulness of a few friends on the outside who are interested in the welfare of children.

SACRED HARP SINGERS WILL MEET TOMORROW

There will be plenty of good music and plenty of dinner when the noted Sacred Harp Singers come together at the Primitive Baptist church, Degress avenue, for an all-day singing and basket dinner. This is the first quarterly meeting of the Stone Mountain congregation. J. S. White is president. All lovers of good singing are invited. Take North Decatur car to Degress avenue.

DENIES FRAUD CHARGE MADE BY JOHN DUNCAN

Greenville, S. C., September 27.—W. A. Lee, whom John T. Duncan, one of the contesting candidates for governor, claims told him he was paid $2 a day to work for Judge Jones, today made an affidavit that the statements made yesterday before the sub-committee investigating the primary at Anderson, by Duncan were absolutely false. He also denies very bitterly having told Duncan that corporation physicians had told him that $108,000 had been deposited in the banks to be used in the interest of Jones. He says he stands ready to appear before the committee at any time.

THREE STUDENTS KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Norway, Maine, September 27.—Three members of an automobile party were killed and two seriously injured today when their car was hit by a passenger train on the Grand Trunk railroad. The dead are: Miss Dorothy Grose, East Sumner; Miss Elizabeth Faircloth, Richmond; Harry Smith, South Paris.

All the occupants of the automobile except Harry Smith, who drove it, were college students.

SOCIAL PROBLEM CONFRONTS MACON

Segregation Fought by Women of the Red Light Districts.

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) There is a possibility that unless the women of Macon's restricted district obey the order of Chief of Police Chapman, Macon may soon have a situation similar to that which now exists in Atlanta.

Three months ago Chief Chapman notified the women in charge of the houses that after October 1 they must all be located south of the Central of Georgia tracks and between Cherry and Pine streets. The chief today said that he intended to enforce his order unless stopped by those "higher up," meaning the police committee.

It is apparent that the women are making no preparations to move. Some say that they do not intend to move before November, if at all, and others are positive that they are not going to move at all. Some intimate that they will not have to move despite the chief's order.

The future developments are awaited with interest and especially so is the part that the police committee, of which Alderman W. W. Williams is chairman, will take. Unless there is interference from that source the chief will either move the women or close up the houses.

The present district is somewhat scattered, some of the houses being located on Fourth street below the Union depot, while the others are east of Fourth street and between Mulberry and Poplar.

Socialists Are Sore.

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) The Macon socialists are incensed because of the fact that one of their speakers was denied the right to speak on the street when that privilege has been accorded to Colonel Roosevelt when he arrives here Saturday afternoon.

A member of the Macon socialist local has written a newspaper communication in which he charges Chief of Police Chapman with discrimination betwen the classes.

The chief's reason for not letting the socialist speak on the street corner was that he would block the street and interfere with traffic.

The socialist member comes back at him with the rejoinder that Colonel Roosevelt's crowd will also block the streets, in view of the fact that the colonel is to speak from the portico of the city hall and his audience will stand in the streets and park surrounding the building.

REBELS AND FEDERALS AT DANCES TOGETHER

Juarez, Mexico, September 27.—Federal and rebel soldiers dance together at Casas Grandes, which is held by government forces, and there seems to be no effort of federals in the district to check the rebel raids, according to Park Look, who arrived here today. He came to report to his father, George Look, that their ranch was raided yesterday, and their Mexican ranch manager is held for ransom.

According to Mr. Look, rebel outposts come into Casas Grandes and participate in dances with the federal soldiers who know their identity.

WHY MR. WOODWARD SHOULD BE DEFEATED

(From The Atlanta Journal.)

Atlanta is soon to choose new city officials for a term of two years. Chief among these will be a mayor, the head of the municipal government. Whoever is named to this office will, by the very fact of his election, bear the stamp of the community's approval as a true type of its thought and purpose; he will stand before the State and the country-at-large as the chosen representative of our people's business interests, their social standards and their civic ideals. By his deportment at home and abroad, by his record and his character, the people of Atlanta will very largely be judged; and properly so, for it is within their power to say what manner of man their mayor shall be.

If he is of good repute and wears worthily the honor accorded him, his election will then be a credit to the community. But if he trails his high office through ways that are foul and smirches the public honor with his private misdeeds, then his election becomes a shame and rebuke to the city that intrusted its good name to his keeping. Nor is this all. For, a mayor who is morally unfit and who is faithless to social and official standards not only stains a city's reputation, but he also menaces its very character. From the prominence of his position, his bad example becomes a thousandfold worse in its effect. His office itself is degraded in the public mind and the man who should be an inspiration to good citizenship becomes a snare of cynical distrust. Any city where such a spirit prevails is built upon fateful sands and will fall.

A mayor of Atlanta should embody the best traits of the people he is to serve; otherwise he could not really represent them or do their will. He should be mannerly, high-minded, dependable, competent and above all, his moral character should be beyond reproach. Certain it is that wanton and notorious disregard of decency in public and private life utterly disqualifies any man for the responsible office of Atlanta's chief executive.

In the forthcoming mayoralty election, The Journal has no more interest than that which any true citizen should feel in his community's welfare. We are not even remotely concerned with the individual or political fortunes of any candidate. Only to the extent that these candidacies bear upon public interests and public honor is it our business or our purpose to discuss them. We should very much prefer to let this election come and go without a word of personal comment. But we cannot escape the fact that the city of Atlanta again faces a decision on which its continued prestige and well being vitally depend; and at such a juncture silence would be nothing short of treachery.

It is a regrettable circumstance that Mr. James G. Woodward should again have embarrassed this city by seeking the mayorship in defiance of the community's emphatic opinion as recorded at the last two elections.

Let us make it clear in the outset that we are discussing Mr. Woodward not as an individual, but solely as a candidate for mayor. He has qualities that well deserve the regard and friendship of those with whom he deals in business and personal relationships. For all such traits, we cordially give him credit.

But the stubborn fact remains that through his own conduct, Mr. Woodward has fatally disqualified himself for the mayorship of this city. There is no pleasure in recalling the circumstances under which the people of Atlanta rose virtually as a unit four years ago to assert their civic conscience and self respect. But Mr. Woodward himself has provoked the very issue that existed then. Evidently heedless of the people's judgment as it was rendered in 1908, he thrust himself back into the limelight two years later and forced the same campaign to be fought over with just the same result.

Surely, that should have sufficed. But in utter disregard of the community's sentiment as expressed at two successive elections he now comes forward for a third time, asking the citizens of Atlanta to cancel their former pledges and, in fact, to repudiate the stand they have taken upon an issue that has its beginning and end in a question of civic decency.

The facts and reasons that barred Mr. Woodward from the suffrage of good citizens in 1908 and 1910 are as imperative today as they ever were; and a disregard of those facts would be as calamitous to Atlanta now as then.

It is not a question of whether the moral record on which he was repudiated has been atoned. It is simply a question of whether a mayor who has repeatedly disgraced the city at home and abroad should ever again be intrusted with that high office and placed before the world as the representative of Atlanta people.

If Mr. Woodward has forsworn the ways through which he dragged the city's name, when he was in office, that is distinctly to his credit as a man but it in no wise changes his status as a candidate.

In no circumstances can the people of Atlanta afford to re-commit their city's interests and reputation to an official who made himself notorious throughout the Union by a flagrant disregard of decent and moral conduct.

For, to do this would be to invite the censure and scorn of upright citizens everywhere and again to expose this community to the humiliation it so bitterly suffered in the past.

The Journal, we repeat, has no interest in the mayor's race, or in any of the candidates except in-so-far as the public's welfare is concerned. But it is so evident a fact that the election of Mr. James G. Woodward would be a public misfortune that no true citizen can remain indifferent in these circumstances.

We, therefore, urge upon the people of Atlanta as a matter of community pride and in behalf of their own deepest interests to see to it that the city is spared the humiliation and the injury which Mr. Woodward's election would inevitably entail.

And to this end, they should concentrate their support upon some other candidate, that candidate who gives the clearest and surest promise of being elected and of making a satisfactory mayor. The representative sentiment of Atlanta people should not be divided at such a time and on such an issue. The good name, the moral health, the continued prestige of their city are in the balance. For the sake of all these interests and their vital bearing on our business and our homes, Mr. Woodward must be defeated.

Let all good citizens take the surest course to that all-important result.

OLD WOMAN'S SAVINGS MAY BE WORTHLESS

Washington, September 27.—A government regulation may make the bulk of savings of 80-year-old Mrs. Kate Coombs so much waste paper. For 30 years she has hoarded the monthly $10 voucher she received for her care of machine covers in the bureau of printing and engraving. Today her trunk contains 360 of the warrants, calling for $3,600 from the treasury. But a treasury law provided that such vouchers must be cashed within two years of the date of issue.

An investigation of the vouchers will be made and they may be paid out of the "outstanding liabilities funds." Otherwise the bulk of Mrs. Coombs' savings will be worthless.

New Cure for Indigestion.

Philadelphia, September 27.—Crawling on all-fours after meals is the latest treatment for digestive ailments, recommended in a monograph by a French specialist. He explains that the stooping position eliminates the "gastric pocket," preventing stagnation of food at this point. The exercise of the abdominal muscles is also, the doctor contends, an excellent means of stimulating digestion.

CHINA REJECTS PROPOSED LOAN

International Project Is Formally Declined by Provisional President.

Washington, September 27.—All doubt as to the determination of the Chinese government to reject the proposed international bankers' loan of $350,000,000 was removed today when Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai formally declined the proposal in answer to a direct question by Sir John L. Jordan, the British minister at Pekin. News of the action was received in official circles here today.

Until today the only notice to the six powers that China had decided to reject the loan was contained in a statement made by the Chinese minister in London to the representatives of the bankers' group. It had been hoped this was not final or official.

Foreign offices of the interested powers now are expected to engage in some rapid cable exchanges in an effort to get together on some line of policy that promises a satisfactory settlement of this question. So far there is a noticeable reluctance to compulsory methods, even to demanding immediate payment by China of the $50,000,000 arrears on account of the Boxer indemnities and other items. It is still believed there may be a middle way of reaching a satisfactory settlement and there are indications that this may be found by a recognition by the six powers of the validity of the so-called independent $50,000,000 loan, thus removing further opposition from outside banks, on condition that China refrains from further transactions of the kind and resumes negotiations for the larger loan, perhaps on plans modified as to the restrictions to be imposed upon China.

MORTUARY

M. J. Argard.

M. J. Argard, 80 years old, died at midnight Thursday night at a private sanitarium in Atlanta. He leaves a widow and five children by his first wife. His first wife died fourteen years ago. The children are: George E. Argard of Atlanta, Mrs. Charles Wandrack of Woodstock, Ill., Mrs. G. E. O'Connor of Eagle River, Wis., Mrs. E. P. Ellenson of Chippewa Falls, Wis. The body of Mr. Argard will be taken to his old home in Eau Claire, Wis., for burial. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Madison chapel.

R. L. Cheek, Macon.

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—R. L. Cheek, for many years a well-known Macon business man, died late last night in Milledgeville, where he had been for the past two months. The deceased had been a resident of Macon for twenty years and was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and a Knight of Pythias. He was 47 years of age. Besides his wife he leaves a son and daughter, Oldine Cheek and Mrs. W. O. Colbert; five brothers, J. E. and E. F. Cheek, of Vienna. O. F. Cheek, of Ashburn; J. W. Cheek, of Fort Valley, and W. J. Cheek, of Perry, and Mrs. A. L. Perdue, of Gastonia, N. C., and Mrs. A. Crawford, of Griffin. His father, W. R. Cheek, of Houston county, also survives.

Miss Bradberry, Clarkesville.

Athens, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) Miss Lou Bradberry, one of the best-known women of this city, died last night at Clarkesville, and the remains were brought to this city today at noon for the burial and funeral here tomorrow. She was about 48 years old, and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. L. Means of Macon and Mrs. Arthur Burch of Athens, and one brother, Robert Bradberry, of this place. Numerous other relatives and a host of friends are also left to mourn her death. She was the senior member of the firm of "The Misses Bradberry," here.

Mrs. Mattie Vandigriff.

Mrs. Mattie Vandigriff, 47 years old, died at the residence, 343 East Hunter street, Friday morning at 6:30 o'clock. She is survived by her husband, J. M. Vandigriff, and six children. The body was removed to Poole's chapel, from where it will be taken to Jenkinsburg, Ga., Sunday morning at 7:45 o'clock for funeral and interment.

Lafayette Williams.

The funeral of Lafayette Williams, who died at the Soldiers' home Thursday morning at 5 o'clock, will be held from Poole's chapel Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will take place in West View cemetery.

M. J. Argard.

At the ripe old age of 80 years M. J. Argard breathed his last Thursday afternoon in a private sanatorium. His home was at 582 Highland avenue. He is survived by his wife and one son, George E. Argard, of Atlanta, and four daughters, Mrs. Charles Wandrack, of Woodstock, Ill., Mrs. G. E. O'Connor of Eagle River, Wis., Mrs. E. P. Ellerson of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Mrs. C. W. Prouty of Chicago. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Patterson's chapel, and the body will be taken to Eau Claire, Wis., for interment.

M. M. Hill.

M. M. Hill died yesterday morning at his home, 115 Woodward avenue. He is survived by his wife, two sons, L. N. and G. E. Hill, and two daughters, Mrs. Lizzie Crawley and Mrs. H. S. Shaw, of Petersburg, Va. Mr. Hill had been a member of the Atlanta Typographical union for fifty years, having formerly served as president of the union. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist church, of which he had been a deacon for many years. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Newnan Trade Board.

Columbus, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—J. T. Carroll, secretary of the Newnan, Ga., board of trade, is in Columbus, getting pointers for his organization. Mr. Carroll recently took charge of the board of trade work at Newnan and is visiting other cities in this section to study the methods of their commercial bodies. He had heard the Columbus board of trade spoken of as a model in its plan and method of operation and came to confer with Secretary Charles B. Woodruff, of that organization.

Wiley Williams Well.

Columbus, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Captain Wiley Williams, prison commissioner, has returned from a south Georgia trip and will be at home until October 1. His many friends are delighted to note his complete recovery from his recent severe illness. Secretary Yancey, of the prison commission, is spending a day or two with Captain Williams.

Vote for Steve R. Johnston for Mayor. He is worthy and well qualified.

MEXICAN FEDERALS WILL CROSS BORDER

Washington, September 27.—Permission to transport an additional force of Mexican federal troops through American territory was granted today by the state department through the Mexican embassy here. Conditions that governed the movement of the first body of troops from El Paso to Douglas a few weeks ago will be imposed. The Mexican soldiers must be unarmed during their transit. Their rifles must be transported separately under guard of American soldiers and returned to them when they reach their destination.

This federal force, comprising one battalion, will be sent into eastern Mexico as part of a general movement planned by government leaders to close in on the remnant of Orozco's forces in the rear and force him, to surrender, to fight or to flee across the international boundary.

SHOT UP TOWN; TO SERVE 6 YEARS

Man Who Run Amuck and Periled Many Will Pay the Penalty.

Nashville, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Batey Gaskins, who came to Nashville several months ago and shot into A. Albritton's store, Judge W. D. Buie's office, Wein's store and the county commissioner's office while under the influence of liquor, was tried here again.

Gaskins was convicted in his first trial, but the supreme court reversed the decision. The jury this time found Gaskins guilty, but recommended that he be punished as for a misdemeanor. Judge Thomas thought that the evidence was too strong and refused to act on the recommendation. He sentenced Gaskins to six years in the penitentiary.

The county commissioner's office was full of lady teachers when Gaskins shot there.

CAPTURE NEGRO AFTER BIG FIGHT

Drug-Crazed Black Takes Refuge in House and Shoots at Officers.

Louisville, Ky., September 27.—After being held at bay all night by a drug-crazed negro, Louisville police early today rushed the black's barricade and captured him before he could make further resistance. The prisoner, Ed Jackson, was arrested last night on a trivial charge. He escaped, took refuge in a house in the crowded negro quarter and began firing on pedestrians and street cars. One of the policemen sent to arrest him was dangerously shot.

The riot call was sounded, but when police and citizens reached Jackson's retreat, he had barricaded himself so securely and directed such an effective rifle fire at his pursuers that they were obliged to fight at long range. For two hours they exchanged shots with the black. Then firing ceased and the police awaited the coming of daylight. The rush on his barricade took Jackson by surprise and he surrendered, although well supplied with ammunition.

When the police gained entrance to the house, they found two other negroes with Jackson. One of them, who attempted to rush the police, was shot down. Probably he was fatally wounded. It is believed the two men were in the house when Jackson took refuge there and that he compelled them to help him in his fight.

TEDDY WILL MAKE THE "KICK OFF"

Strenuous Time Is Planned for Col. Roosevelt When He Visits Macon Today.

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) When Colonel Roosevelt arrives in Macon tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock thousands of people from all middle and south Georgia will be on hand to greet him.

The police department has made special arrangements to handle the crowd. One feature of the local program will take "Teddy" back to his college days. Mercer and Gordon play their annual football game during the day and it has been arranged for Colonel Roosevelt to make the "kick-off." It was at first planned to let Roosevelt blow the whistle marking the opening of the game, but the committee recalled his delight for things strenuous and decided it would be better to have him send the pigskin soaring down the field.

Immediately after the arrival of the Roosevelt party they will be taken to the city hall, where the colonel will deliver an address from the portico of the building. He will next be taken to Coleman's hill to address the school children, after which his machine will carry him to Central City park, where he will open the Mercer-Gordon game. Then he will be taken back to his train, which will leave for Atlanta at 4:15 o'clock.

Law Class Contest.

Athens, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—There is a lively race on for the much coveted office of president of the senior law class at the University of Georgia. H. T. Singleton, of Edison, and O. J. Tolnas, of Brunswick, are leaders in the classroom and their respective friends are putting up a strong contest for the plum for their favorites.

CITY NEWS

Dr. Cronk Will Preach.—The many friends of Rev. E. C. Cronk will be glad to know of his presence in the city and will welcome the opportunity of hearing him on Sunday at the English Lutheran church. Dr. Cronk is now the general secretary of the laymen's missionary movement in his church, but was for five years the pastor of the local Lutheran congregation, under his administration the work being organized and the church built. Dr. Cronk will preach at both services on Sunday, and added interest attaches to the services inasmuch as for the first time the congregation worships in the auditorium that has recently been thoroughly renovated, preparatory to the meeting of the united synod in November.

Band Concert.—Baldwin's Hapeville band will give a free concert in the bandstand at the depot park at Hapeville Sunday afternoon, September 29, from 4 to 5:30 o'clock.

Warm Welcome for Dolson.—The newspaper men of the city are extending a warm welcome to Alfred L. Dolson, who recently arrived here in the interest of the Henry B. Harris company of New York. Mr. Dolson is arranging for the production of "The Quaker Girl" at the Atlanta theater for the week of October 7.

New School Building.—Holmes institute, of which B. R. Holmes is principal, will open in its 2-story, 8-room building on Monday morning, September 30, at 8:30 o'clock. This school was established for the benefit of children who cannot attend the public schools, buy books and pay tuition. The departments are: English, normal, theology, dressmaking, tailoring, printing and laundering. A night school will open Monday night, September 30, at 8:30 o'clock. All people who cannot get their children in the public schools are urged to send them to this school. Any donation given the school, such as books, desks and blackboards, will be highly appreciated.

Colored Y. M. C. A. Meeting.—A big platform meeting in the interest of the Colored Y. M. C. A. new building fund will be held at Wheat Street Baptist church Sunday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. A number of able speakers of both races have expressed their approval of the meeting and have promised to be present. Among them will be Woods White, President John Hope, of Atlanta Baptist college; General Secretary J. P. Jackson, of the Central association; Rev. R. V. Branch, pastor of Allen temple; International Secretary J. B. Watson, who has charge of the colored work in four states; Rev. A. D. Williams, pastor of Ebenezer, and Rev. P. James Bryant, who is taking the lead in this meeting, will preside.

Miss Hood Is Improving.—G. R. Hood, a deputy clerk in the federal courts, yesterday received a telegram from Mrs. Hood, now visiting relatives in Camden, N. J., that their daughter, who has been ill for some time, is improving nicely. It will be several weeks before Mrs. Hood and Miss Hood come home.

Petition in Bankruptcy.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed with Deputy Clerk Fred Beers, of the United States court, yesterday by D. M. Deitch, a tailor of Atlanta. The papers indicate liabilities amounting to $9,693.19, with assets aggregating $4,349.

Sermon on Chief Beavers.—Sunday services at Grace Methodist church will be timely and interesting. It will be "promotion day" in the Sunday school. Grace church has 200 children in its primary department, under the efficient superintendence of Mrs. W. A. Albright. A number of the older tots have completed the graded courses and with appropriate ceremonies will be promoted, receiving diplomas. At 11 a. m. Dr. C. O. Jones will preach on "An Irreligious Family." At 8 p. m. Dr. Jones will preach on "Chief Beavers, a Modern John the Baptist."

Baptist Church Recital.—Circle No. 2 of Jackson Hill Baptist church will give a recital at the church on Tuesday evening, October 1. Miss Ruby Gaffney will sing, accompanied by Professor Albert Gerard-Thiers, and Miss Ethel Thornton is reader for the evening, all of whom are well known. The music lovers of the city will be glad of the opportunity to hear Mr. Raymond R. Whatfield, pianist, and Mrs. Don Farnsworth, violinist, both of whom are musicians of rare accomplishment, and who have recently come to the city. The public is cordially invited.

Will Preach on Bible.—Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur will teach the adult Bible classes at the Baptist Tabernacle Sunday morning, September 29, at 9:30, his subject being "The Bible, the Inspired Word of God."

Thieves Stealing Butter.—It's a fat and greasy time young thieves are having on the south side, according to a number of dairymen, who report frequent thefts of butter from their wagons. Thomas Lawrence, who runs a dairy on the Brown Mill road, said last night that during the day he stopped his wagon on Washington street and came back from supplying a customer to find sixteen pounds of his choicest Jersey butter missing. Another dairyman reported a whole bucket of butter gone.

Will Fight for Freedom.

Nashville, Ga., September 27.—Batey Gaskins, who was convicted of assault with intent to murder and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary, has secured the services of Hon. John R. Cooper, of Macon, who will appeal the case.

WHITE PLAGUE REDUCED 22 PER CENT IN GOTHAM

New York, September 27.—In the thirteen years since the city of Greater New York was formed, according to statistics compiled by the department of health, death from tuberculosis has been reduced 22 per cent. In 1898 the rate was 22.5 for each 10,000 of population. In 1911 it was 17.6.

Of the 100 patients treated in the city's free tuberculosis clinics last year more than one-third were Hebrew. Next in order came Italians and Austrians. The reports show an increased frequency of the disease among bankers, barbers, carpenters and cigarmakers.

NEGRO CONVICTS ARE RECAPTURED

Beat Guard and Escape, But Caught by Man They Tried to Kill.

Savannah, Ga., September 27.—Philip Horning, guard at convict camp No. 4, on the Waters road, several miles from the city, was set upon early this morning by George Wilson and John Middleton, two negro convicts, and beaten. His rifle was taken from him and the negroes escaped into the woods.

While they were engaged in filing off their shackles with a file which they had secured from some unknown source, E. W. Sipple, a well-known Savannahian, came upon them. Both Sipple and the negroes were surprised. The blacks thought Sipple was pursuing them and one of them, grabbing the rifle, threw it into his face and pulled the trigger. The rifle was loaded with buckshot, but, fortunately for Sipple, it snapped. Had it fired he would have been instantly killed.

Sipple recovered from his fright in time to cover both blacks with his revolver and brought them into the city captives. The negroes are two of the most desperate men among the convicts and one of them has escaped several times.

PHILIPPINE SERGEANTS HAVE GROWN TOO FAT

Washington, September 27.—Uncle Sam's staff sergeants in the Philippines have waxed fat and the army subscribes to the dictum, "nobody loves a fat man." So Inspector General Garlington in his annual report to the secretary of war recommends that the fat be eliminated.

Lapped in the lazy luxury of military life in the Oriental headquarters the sergeants have developed what is politely termed embonpoint, otherwise paunch. The inspector general recommends that the offending sergeants exercise and demands that a suitable walking test be prescribed for the island division.

THREE THOUSAND PERSONS WATCH DOUBLE HANGING

Gainesville, Fla., September 27.—Caine and Fortune Perry, two negroes convicted of killing two Gainesville officers, were hanged side by side on the same gallows here today in the presence of 3,000 persons. The little town of Archer, terrorized by letters threatening to burn the town unless the Perry negroes were released, was tranquil, but the officers have not relaxed their vigilance.

Minister Resigns.

Washington, September 27.—Francisco J. Peynado, minister from the Dominican republic, has resigned to take effect as soon as he is relieved. The minister disclaims that the present trouble in the republic has influenced his resignation, which he forwarded a month ago.

$11,500 in Gold Stolen.

Newark, N. J., September 27.—It became known today that $11,500 in gold was mysteriously stolen about noon on September 18 from the National Newark Banking company. The theft was apparently accomplished from the corridor by means of a long pole and hook.

ALABAMA FACES MILLION DEFICIT

Legislative Appropriations Are Blamed by State Treasurer for the Shortage.

Montgomery, September 27.—(Special.)—Figures compiled by State Treasurer John Purifoy show that the estimated deficit in the state treasury by December 31, 1912, will be $1,154,340.19. The present deficit in the treasury amounts to $392,842.87.

In the statement prepared by State Treasurer Purifoy, it is shown approximately that the amount of receipts from the beginning of the fiscal year, beginning October 1, 1912, to the close of the business year, December 31, 1912, will be $1,182,500. The amount of disbursements between October 1 and December 31 will be, according to Judge Purifoy's statement, $2,336,840.19.

According to Treasurer Purifoy, legislative appropriations are responsible for the great deficit in the treasury. The greatest drain on the treasury will be the appropriation to the public schools, which will receive $1,025,000, nearly as much in itself as will be the entire amount of the state's receipts during the three months from October 1 to December 31.

CRUISER AT FOOCHOW TO GUARD AMERICANS

Washington, September 27.—At the request of American Consul Fowler at Foochow to Admiral Nicholson, commanding the Asiatic fleet, the cruiser Cincinnati has arrived at that port to look after the interests of Americans.

The chief of police is in revolt against the Pekin government, and it is expected that a force of republican troops will be sent from Pekin to attack the town.

Marconi Much Better.

Spezia, Italy, September 27.—Such great improvement has taken place in the condition of William Marconi, the inventor of wireless telegraphy, that it is expected he will be sufficiently recovered from the injuries received in the automobile accident on Wednesday to leave the hospital within a week.

Tris Speaker to Cover Big Games For Constitution

Tristram Speaker, the sensational fly-chaser and batsman of the Boston Red Sox, will write the world's series for the readers of The Constitution's sporting page. Being an active participant in the series, all the inside points of the big battles which would escape the notice of the layman will be described minutely by Speaker. There are thousands of Atlanta fans who will be unable to witness the games in person and The Constitution is giving them the next best possible way. Through Speaker's eyes, the man who proved the sensation of the last post-season series between the Giants and the Red Sox, the readers of The Constitution will see the game as accurately as if they were witnessing every battle. And Speaker is not a stranger to any of you. He played with Little Rock in this league a few years ago and led the league with the willow on that occasion. Watch for these articles. They are sure to be a treat.

BILLIKENS ARE ON THE MARKET

Montgomery, Ala., September 27.—Montgomery's franchise in the Southern Baseball league is on the market. Negotiations between the baseball association and the Business Men's league were broken off Thursday afternoon, and Richard Tillis, owner of the franchise, announced that he would dispose of the privilege.

The business organization agreed to pay $2,500 a year toward supporting a team, but Tillis refused to sign a contract which carried conditions not satisfactory to the association. Tillis stated that Little Rock's offer of $20,000 was refused several months ago, and that another proposition would have to be made.

The purchase of franchises in the South Atlantic league by Montgomery and Pensacola is being considered. These cities would be the only places where baseball could be played on Sundays.

GEORGIA REGULARS ARE AN UNCERTAINTY

By Clark Howell, Jr.

Athens, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia's football team is fast rounding into shape and the abundance of good material makes it a veritable enigma to predict with any degree of certainty what men will be regulars this year. Coach Cunningham is giving every man on the field an equal opportunity, so there can be no possible chance of the cry "I didn't have a fair show" rising in the latter part of the season.

It is a stern, immutable law of Coach Cunningham's that no man, by virtue of his having played on the team before, shall be discriminated in favor of. Time only can tell who will compose the personnel of the varsity, as it will be a question of survival of the fittest.

Paddock, who starred for Peddie institute at quarterback, has arrived in Athens and with his arrival the race for this position has waxed to a high degree of interest and uncertainty. The other contendants for quarter are Sancken, who starred for Georgia in several games last year; Norton, who captained Bingham last year and who is just recovering from a bad charlie horse sustained in the earlier part of the season, and Covington, who may be shifted from the line.

For backfield honors the fight is on with the same degree of uncertainty. McWhorter will be at his old position of right half. The other half will go to Wheatley, formerly of Stone Mountain; Crump, a scrub of last year, or A. Peacock. At full the contest is between Henderson, of Gordon; Morris, a reserve of last year; Charlie Thompson, who was captain of the Boys' high school last year, and Broyles, who scrubbed last season.

Regardless of which men are chosen from this number for the backfield honors it is safe to say that the Red and Black will present a formidable appearance behind the line.

"Matty" in Hero Role.

New York, September 27.—Christy Mathewson, whose abilities as a "rescue" pitcher have saved many games for the New York Nationals, performed efficiently in another form of rescue work tonight. The Giants' noted box man, out for an evening spin in his automobile, stopped his car on Washington Heights, elbowed his way through the throng and long before a summoned ambulance had arrived picked up two unconscious men who had been struck by another motor car, placed them, with a policeman, in his car and was off full speed for the nearest hospital. Both the victims of the accident, Frank O'Neil and William Popp, are in a serious condition.

Official Averages Show Joe Jackson Is Pressing Cobb For Batting Honors

By Dick Jemison.

Realizing that the press of the country is very much at outs on the season batting averages of Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson and Tris Speaker, The Constitution wired President Ban B. Johnson, of the American league, for his official figures.

The Constitution in its daily averages had Jackson ahead of Speaker, the other local papers having Speaker in second place.

The accuracy of The Constitution's figures were at once proven, the official figures tallying to a dot with those last night printed in The Constitution.

Here is President Johnson's answer to our telegram:

"Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: In compliance with your telegraphic request today, you will find below the official averages of Cobb, Speaker and Jackson, up to and including games played Thursday, September 26:

Players.	AB.	H.	P.C.
Cobb	538	220	.409
Jackson	548	213	.388
Speaker	561	215	.383

Speaker did not play on Friday. Jackson had a perfect day, getting three hits in three times up, while Cobb got two hits in four times up.

Here are the figures brought right up to date, including Friday's games:

Players.	AB.	H.	P.C.
Cobb	542	222	.410
Jackson	551	216	.391
Speaker	561	215	.383

NEW DRAFT RULE FROM CLASS AA.

New York, September 27.—A new method of drafting baseball players for class AA leagues will be recommended to the national commission at its next regular meeting by President C. H. Ebbetts, of the Brooklyn club. He declares that the present "grab bag" plan is unfair alike to the weak major league clubs, which need new material, and to the good minor league players, who fail to graduate into fast company. Ebbett's plan is as follows:

"Let the American league, for instance, take the odd numbers, 1, 3, 5, etc., for each club, while the National league clubs are numbered 2, 4, 6, etc., assign these numbers according to the order in which the teams finish.

"Give number 15 and number 16, the tail-end clubs, first chance at all players subject to draft. Thus each team will have an excellent chance to secure desirable talent, and will not be compelled to take players that are not really needed."

MUST REBUILD YALE ELEVEN

New Haven, Conn., September 27.—The task of building over the Yale eleven to remedy its numerous defects shown in the game with Wesleyan, is being undertaken by the coaches "from the ground up." The short forward passes, which proved unsuccessful, have been abandoned, and a program of entirely new formations and new styles of play is to be inaugurated. More time is to be devoted to the kicking end of the game, which appears to need attention.

For the present there will be no radical changes in the line-up. The coaches still are looking over the student body for new material, especially for the scrub contingent.

FIELD DAY GAMES AT FORT M'PHERSON

Enthusiasm and a good crowd marked the Field day exercises held at Fort McPherson yesterday morning. Privates Franz and Campbell won the 100 and the 220-yard dashes, respectively. The results of the five competitive events were as follows:

100-Yard Dash—Franz, first; Campbell, second. Stewart, third. Time, 11 4-5 seconds.

Dog Tent Pitching Contest—Company H, first; Company F, second; Company N, third. Time, 5 minutes and 40 seconds.

220-Yard Dash — Campbell, first; Bono, second; Reem, third. Time, 27 seconds.

Wall Scaling Contest—Company E team, first; Company K, second, and Company L, third. Time, 22 2-5 seconds.

Tug of War—Won by the Third battalion in seven minutes.

Shriners Celebrate.

Nashville, Tenn., September 27.—(Special.)—Today, the fortieth anniversary of the foundation of the first temple of the Mystic Shrine, temples from Evansville, Ind.; Madisonville, Ky.; Chattanooga, Tenn., and Memphis, Tenn., are in Nashville installing Al Menah temple, the new body of Shriners recently authorized by special dispensation. The first ceremonial session included a parade through the streets this morning with more than one hundred initiates in chains and a big barbecue at Glendale park this afternoon.

Bull Attacks Red Auto.

Elwood, Ind., September 27.—While driving an auto along the highway seven miles northeast of Elwood, Henry Cohrel and family were attacked by an enraged bull and their automobile was put out of commission. Boys had been teasing the animal by waving a red blanket at it. As the automobile approached, the bull broke through the fence and charged the red automobile. The bull was almost beheaded by the steel fan which supplies air to cool the engine. The jugular vein was cut and the bull bled to death. None of the occupants in the machine was injured, but the automobile was damaged.

MERCER MEETS GORDON TEAM

Mercer University, Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Mercer opens the season Saturday with Gordon and expects to win by a good score. Gordon, however, as liable to open up a surprise or two and the Orange and Black warriors are not going to lose the game on account of over-confidence.

Gordon is always regarded as a strong team in prep circles and this year does not seem to be an exception. Gordon is very anxious to win this game, as Professor Holmes, the president, was a professor at Mercer last year.

The Mercer team is a little handicapped on account of Dr. Straud's illness. The team has been ably coached during Dr. Straud's sickness by "Bill" Joy, who was assistant coach year before last.

Norman, captain, fullback; Irwin Wood, right half; Foxworth, Cochran, left half; Jameson, Louis, quarteback; McKnight, Stribling, left end; Kelly, left tackle; Aultman, left guard; Holman, Heinsohn, center; Hugueley, Edwards, right guard; Mills, right tackle; Forrester, Plymale, right end.

B. H. S. ELEVEN TO RIVERSIDE

By Hal Reynolds.

The eleven representing the Boys' High school left this morning for Gainesville to play the Riverside Military academy team.

Not much is known of the strength of the Riverside bunch, but it is thought to be much weaker than last year. The high school team is about as strong as the team of last year, and hopes to be able to retrieve some of the defeats administered to her in past years.

The following men will take the trip, though the definite line-up has not been decided upon: Captain Fox, Knox, Holtzendorf, Schane, Johnston, Gann, LeConte, Daly, Mayo, Rosser, Starr, Frazier, Jenkins and Reynolds.

COMMODORES PLAY BETHEL COLLEGE

Nashville, Tenn., September 27.—With four of their brightest stars of last season missing, the Vanderbilt university eleven play their first game here tomorrow with Bethel college. Vanderbilt's chief weakness seems to be the line, which was the strongest in the south last season.

Much time has been spent on the forward pass by the Commodores already, and looks now as if the team will depend largely on this play and the speed of the back field to retain its rank this season.

Burglar Band Caught.

Huntsville, Ala., September 27.—(Special.—The police of Huntsville have arrested a band of six negro boys who have robbed several stores here during the last few nights and disposed of a considerable quantity of stolen goods. The prisoners, all of whom will be charged with burglary and grand larceny, are Percy Fearn, James Kinchlow, Willie Brandon, Walter White, Square Moore and Oscar Hill. Thefts have been committed at Murray's jewelry store, Rodgers' shoe store and Woodall & Mitchell's store.

Hunters Find "Wild Man."

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., September 27.—Ragged and covered with hair and barking like a fox, Arthur Britton, who has been missing for ten years, was found in the Pawling mountains near here.

Kills 3,750,000 Flies.

Redlands, Cal., September 27.—A. E. Chapman, the municipal fly catcher here, filed his first report today, showing that between September 1 and September 24 he killed approximately 3,750,000 flies.

Manager Smith Off for Players And Big Series

Manager Billy Smith and President Frank E. Callaway left Atlanta yesterday afternoon for Washington, where they will have a conference today with Manager Clark Griffith, of the Washington Senators.

This trip will be a combined pleasure and business trip. The two moguls will attend the world's series and will look into the case of some prospective Crackers for the 1913 team.

Griffith and Smith will have a close affiliation next season. All the surplus Senators will be turned over to the Cracker chieftain for further seasoning and something is sure to be done along this line when the two moguls confer.

First and foremost the deal of Joe Agler will be considered and the first baseman will probably be shipped back to the Crackers.

Cincinnati and Boston have men that the Cracker chieftain is interested in and he will talk with the managers of those teams at the world's series games.

GREAT BATTLE AT PHILADELPHIA

Washington and Philadelphia Go Nineteen Innings, the Former Winning.

Philadelphia, September 27.—Washington and Philadelphia, in battling for second place, broke the major league record for this season when they played 19 innings here this afternoon, the former winning, 5 to 4.

Two games were to have been played, but the contest lasted a trifle more than four hours, and could not have proceeded further on account of the gathering darkness.

The visitors scored four runs in the first two innings on five hits, two battery and fielding errors and a fielder's choice. After that Plank held them to no runs and six hits for sixteen successive innings.

In the nineteenth Williams received a base on balls and Johnson beat out a bunt. Williams was forced at third on Moeller's grounder. Foster forced Moeller at second, Barry to Collins. In trying for a double play, Collins threw wild and Johnson scored the winning run.

Groom pitched the first nine innings for Washington. Twice with the bases filled scoring was prevented by double plays, and in the seventh, with the bases filled and one out, the home team scored on an out. Four hits and an error in the ninth enabled Philadelphia to tie the score.

Johnson, who took Groom's place in the tenth inning, was hit harder than Plank, but brilliant fielding, especially by Foster and McBride, prevented any scoring.

Plank, a veteran of twelve seasons, out-twirled both of his younger opponents, the majority of Washington's runs being due to misplays.

Score:		R.	H.	E.
Wash.	130 000 000 000 000 000 1	5	12	2
Phila.	000 000 103 000 000 000 0	4	24	4

Batteries—Groom, Johnson and Williams; Plank and Egan and Lapp. Time, 4:02. Umpires, Evans and Egan.

White Sox Win Two.

St. Louis, September 27.—Hard and timely hitting gave Chicago two games from St. Louis today, the first 9 to 5, and the second, which was stopped at the end of the seventh inning, because of darkness, 8 to 2.

Score—First Game:		R.	H.	E.
Chicago	300 000 510	9	11	0
St. Louis	200 000 210	5	12	4

Batteries—Lange, Benz, Walsh and Easterly and Schalk; Allison, Napier, Powell and Crossen. Time, 1:55. Umpires, Connolly and O'Brien.

Score—Second Game:		R.	H.	E.
Chicago	031 301 0	8	13	1
St. Louis	100 001 0	2	6	1

Batteries—Cicotte and Schalk; Mitchell, Adams and Alexander. Time, 1:35. Umpires, Connolly and O'Brien.

Naps 16, Tigers 5.

Cleveland, Ohio, September 27.—Cleveland again outclassed Detroit today and won, 16 to 5. Wheatley was wild and ineffective, allowing 21 hits. Jackson with three hits and Lajoie with four each had a perfect batting average for the day. Hendryx rolled one under the fence at the end of the left field grandstand for a home run, scoring two ahead of him.

Score:		R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	033 503 02x	16	21	2
Detroit	102 020 000	5	11	2

Batteries—Mitchell and O'Neal; Wheatley and Onslow. Time, 2:05. Umpires, O'Loughlin and McGreevey.

JACKETS OPEN THE SEASON; ELEVENTH CAVALRY ELEVEN OPPONENTS AT FLATS TODAY

By R. L. Hughes.

Georgia Tech will officially open its 1912 football season at the Flats this afternoon, when they line up against the Eleventh cavalry team from Chattanooga. The game will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

The admission fee to all parts of the field will be fifty cents. The car line that is nearest to the park is the Luckie street line. The West Peachtree car line is next nearest.

Innis Brown, the former Vanderbilt football star, and Charlie Wahoo, the former Carlisle star, will probably handle the game in an officiating way.

Jackets in Shape.

The Jackets will enter the game in fine shape. They will present a much stronger line-up than they first expected they would be able to put on the field. It will be several pounds heavier, too, but the way it will line up in the opening game is not by any means the final varsity line-up for the bigger games later on.

Center Loeb may not be able to get into the game owing to an injured foot and Hutton will snap the ball in his place. Tackle Elmer has not yet finally matriculated and he too will not be eligible for the first fray.

Coach Heisman has shifted his line about a trifle as the result of these two absentees, getting the best possible combination from the men available.

Welchel and Stegall will act as the substitutes in the line positions, and Harris and Goebel in the backfield.

Soldiers Heavier.

The Cavalry eleven arrived in Atlanta Friday night. They brought several substitutes with them, too. They have two full sets of linemen and a couple of substitute backfield men. All of them may get into the battle.

The Eleventh cavalry boys will be heavier by several pounds than the Jackets and just as fast. Also, they have been working faithfully this fall and are said to be in grand physical shape, too, something that they lacked in past seasons.

Practically every member of the team has had some kind of football experience on some team. Those who have seen them in action say that, given good condition, they would make it very interesting for every college team in the south.

The Forward Pass.

Both teams are sure to experiment quite a bit with the new rules. The forward pass is sure to come in for a fine try-out. At this game the soldier boys are said to be very adept, their fast little quarter, Dezendorf, being very expert at throwing the pigskin.

Tech will do her best to win the game. Whether she does or not makes no special difference in so far as her relative standing among the southern college teams is concerned, but she will want the victory as a means of inspiring confidence in the men. But every man realizes that it is going to be a mighty hard fight.

Just how the two teams will line up or just what changes will be made at the end of each playing period cannot be forecast, but the eleven men who will start at the various positions are about as follows:

TECH.	Positions.	CAVALRY.
Montague	Left Guard	Brown
Huton	Center	Myers
Means	Right Guard	White

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds Win and Tie.

Chicago, September 27.—Cincinnati today defeated Chicago 10 to 3 in the first game of a double-header and played a 4 to 4 tie in the second, darkness putting an end to the contest after ten innings had been played. The visitors bunched hits in the first game and won easily behind Packard, a recruit pitcher.

Score—First game:		R.	H.	E.
Chicago	000 020 100	3	8	1
Cincinnati	300 302 200	10	14	1

Batteries: Toney, Cottrell, Archer and Heckinger; Packard and Severoid. Time, 1:50.

Score—Second game:		R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	100 300 000 0	4	9	0

Batteries: Reulbach, Smith and Archer; Suggs and Severoid. Time, 2:08. Umpires, Rigler and Finneran.

Dodgers 3, Phillies 1.

Brooklyn, September 27.—Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia today in a close contest by 3 to 1. Stack pitched a fine game, holding Philadelphia to five hits and striking out seven.

Score:		R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	100 000 000	1	5	1
Brooklyn	001 000 11x	3	7	0

Batteries: Mayer, Rixey, Moran and Killifer; Stack and Miller. Time, 1:37. Umpires, Klem and Orth.

Pirates 4, Cards 0.

St. Louis, September 27.—In a game full of brilliant fielding features Pittsburg today shut-out St. Louis, 4 to 0. Not a single St. Louis player reached third.

Score:		R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	010 000 12x	4	8	1
St. Louis	000 000 000	0	3	1

Batteries: Cooper and Gibson; Perritt, Woodburn and Wingo. Time, 1:27. Umpires, Owens and Brennan.

Giants 7, Doves 6.

New York, September 27.—New York defeated Boston today, 7 to 6, the winning run coming in the ninth on an error by Gowdy. Kirby, one of the locals' recruit pitchers, started off badly in the first inning, when the visitors scored five runs, Houser's home run being good for three of them. After that he settled down and yielded only five more hits.

Score:		R.	H.	E.
Boston	500 001 000	6	9	3
New York	012 102 001	7	12	1

Batteries: Dickson and Gowdy; Kirby, Meyers and Hartley. Time, 1:48. Umpires, Eason and Johnstone.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: 1. Where did McElveen go from Brooklyn? 2. Which is the better catcher, Carrigan or Stanage? 3. Who is the best first baseman in the National league? 4. How many games did they play in the world's series last year and how many will they play this year?

1. To Nashville. 2. Stanage. 3. Daubert. 4. They played six last year. Seven games are on the schedule every year. The teams play until some team has won four games. If a team would win the first four games, the series would then end.

CRACKER MOGULS CONFER WITH GRIF

Manager Billy Smith and President Calloway, of the local team, will today have a conference with Manager Clark Griffith, of the Washington team, in Washington.

Griffith and his team return home today and open up a series with Boston.

There are several promising youngsters on both the Boston and Washington teams that Billy has a line on and by tonight they may be Crackers.

The deal for Joe Agler is the first one that will probably be closed.

M'GRAW PRAISES DEMAREE'S WORK

New York, September 27.—Manager McGraw, of the New York Giants, today began grooming his men for the world series with the Boston Americans. With the pennant race won, the recruits will be given the brunt of the work for the remaining week's play, while the veterans rest in relays, playing just enough to keep in good condition.

It is seldom that McGraw discusses the initial work of his young players, but he said today the debut of Al Demaree, the Southern league star, in the box against Boston yesterday was the finest work he had seen done by a newcomer in twenty years of baseball.

It was Demaree's first appearance for the Giants, and, although the game was crucial to the extent that winning it meant clinching the pennant, the youngster had almost perfect control. He struck out nine men, allowed seven hits, two of which were scratches, gave only one base on balls, and scored a shut-out.

Demaree reported to the Giants on September 4, a week too late to be eligible for the world's championship series. Tesreau is being groomed particularly for "spitball" pitching against the Red Sox, and Mathewson and Marquard probably will each have a chance to start one of the big games.

CUBS HURL DEFI; SOX ACCEPT IT

Chicago, September 27.—President Comiskey, of the Chicago American League club, tonight accepted the challenge of President Murphy, of the Chicago Nationals, for a series of games to decide the baseball championship of Chicago. Details will be arranged tomorrow.

TROUBLES OF SICKLES AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

New York, September 27.—Domestic difficulties of the civil war veteran, General Daniel E. Sickles, became prominent again yesterday when Mrs. Sickles publicly declared she was going to foreclose a mortgage of $40,000 she holds on the general's home and evict him. This came as an answer to the general's recent letter to his comrades in which he said there could be no reconciliation between him and his wife. They have been estranged 25 years. Later tonight, however, Mrs. Sickles relented and said she would not foreclose. Recently Mrs. Sickles pawned $8,000 worth of jewelry to satisfy a judgment against the general and rumors of a reconciliation were heard.

HATPINS DEFENDED BY MAYOR OF GOTHAM

New York, September 27.—Mayor Gaynor is not in sympathy with the crusade to suppress the wearing of hat pins with unprotected ends. Several attempts to pass an anti-hat pin ordinance in the board of aldermen have been made recently, and the mayor expresses his opinion on the subject in a letter to one of the advocates of the ordinance:

"I must confess," he writes, "I never saw any one hurt by a lady's hat pin, but since you say so and since the prefect of the Rhone department in France, as you say, has issued an edict against ladies' hat pins, I suppose they must do much slaughter. But is it altogether seemly for a man to get his face so close to a lady's hat pin as to get scratched? Shouldn't such a fellow get scratched? Very truly yours, WILLIAM J. GAYNOR, "Mayor."

ATLANTA'S STRIDES DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

Following the recent drop in realty values on Manhattan avenue, as a result of the action of the police and vice commission, there has been considerable speculation in realty circles as to what utilization will be made of this improved property whereby a reasonable rate of income may be derived from it.

While none of the owners of property on Manhattan avenue expressed an opinion yesterday as to what plans they had for the disposition of the property it is understood that the street may be converted into a wholesale district. The houses, which are durable brick structures, are considered to be too valuable to rent as negro property and for years to come it is not expected that better tenantry can be had. By running in a spur track to these buildings, however, they could be converted into wholesale warehouses and used for similar purposes where good buildings and railroad trackage is needed.

It is understood that a few pieces of this property have been placed on the market, but the figure at which they are quoted has not been disclosed.

Entertainment for Ladies.

Charles P. Glover, of the Atlanta Real Estate Board, announced Friday that the next real estate meeting will be a dinner and entertainment for the lady friends of the members, to be held from 8 to 12 o'clock on Monday night, October 21, in the old Capital City club building, at Peachtree and Ellis streets.

This dinner will be served by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The real estate board will be the hosts, and a very elaborate affair is being planned. This is to be the brilliant social event of the year for the realty men.

President Glover announced that the exchange of the board will not be opened October 1, as had been expected, but will be delayed for several days thereafter on account of several unexpected contingencies.

Real Estate Sales.

A warranty deed from R. H. Wilson, trustee for Mrs. Lizzie E. Goode, and Mrs. Goode individually, to George W. Parrott, conveying the northwest corner of Peachtree and Seventh streets, went on record Thursday.

The consideration was $34,000 cash, or at the rate of $454 a front foot. The property consists of a lot with frontage of 75 feet on Peachtree street, wtih a depth of 400 feet along Seventh street to Cypress street, where there is a frontage of 75 feet. On the lot there is a two-story frame residence.

COMPARISONS PROVE FACTS

COMPARE THE HOUSES in delightful CAPITOL VIEW with the best built houses on Peachtree; and you'll find that the framing used is as good as that of the best house on Peachtree; you'll find that although the weatherboarding, shingles, laths, plaster, paint, varnish, etc., are the very BEST, and the houses are built by careful, EXPERIENCED carpenters; and although CAPITOL VIEW lots are, generally, large, very beautiful, and well shaded, with lovely oaks and hickories, the price of CAPITOL VIEW property is INFINITELY LESS and the prospect for enhancement is vastly greater, than in any other section of Atlanta, of similar distance from the business and shopping district.

And REMEMBER, even since CAPITOL VIEW has become a part of Atlanta, and will share the advantages of the city sanitary department, police and fire protection, public school, street lights, etc., the price of CAPITOL VIEW property WILL NOT ADVANCE BEFORE JANUARY 1, 1913.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

BETTER WEATHER CAUSED SELLING

Cotton Market Closed Barely Steady, 7 to 16 Points Lower.

New York, September 27.—Reports of better weather in the south and claims of increasing southern offerings were accompanied by very heavy selling on the local cotton market today, and the close was barely steady at a net decline of from 7 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points and active months sold 7 to 9 points net lower right after the call, under liquidation, attributed to the circulation of October notices, bearish Liverpool cables, higher temperatures in the southwest and claims that the sold snap had run its course without having caused any widespread damage to the crop. The October notices were estimated at about 60,000 bales, but leading spot houses were good buyers of October around the ring at about 35 to 40 points under January, while profit taking by recent sellers of later months also helped to steady the market at the decline. After working up to approximately the closing figures of yesterday on this support, however, the market weakened and again shortly after midday under a continuation of active liquidation, particularly through Wall street brokers, and the lowest level of the day was reached in the late trading, when active months sold about 13 to 16 points under the closing figures of yesterday. Reports that the National Ginners' association made the condition of the crop 69.1, comparing with their report of 76 per cent last month, indicating less deterioration than had been anticipated in view of the mid-month's reports of 67.4 per cent and undoubtedly contributed to late break, when sentiment was also influenced by reports of lower southern spot markets, and of increased southern hedging.

Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 4 to 5 points on poor cables. The weather map was too good, but did not result in any support of the market. Too much rain fell in the eastern belt and temperatures remained low in Oklahoma and north Texas. The market was dull in the early trading and business came almost entirely from professionals. The forecast promised fair weather over a large part of the cotton belt and encouraged scalping of shorts. At the end of the first half hour of business, prices were 4 to 6 points under yesterday's close.

Around the middle of the morning, the market steadied on profit taking by shorts and prices went 1 to 2 points over yesterday's close. Bearish comment concerning the large number of October notices circulated in New York and what were construed to be bearish reports on ginning and condition from a private crop-reporting bureau caused selling orders to increase again late in the morning and at noon the trading months were 7 to 9 points under yesterday's final quotations.

In the afternoon the market had an easy undertone. At 2 o'clock prices were 11 to 12 points under yesterday's last quotations.

Cotton futures closed steady at a net decline of 10 to 11 points.

a-Minimum temperatures are for 12-hour period ending at 8 a. m. this date. b-Received late not included in averages. x-Highest yesterday. xx-Lowest for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitation from the number of stations reporting 0.10 inch or more. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

Remarks.

Light scattered showers have occurred in the eastern half of the belt; west of the Mississippi river fair weather prevails. Temperatures are generally somewhat lower throughout the belt.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Section Director, Weather Bureau.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, September 27.—Heavy liquidation occurred here again today and consequently the market declined 15 points. The steady selling had its source in reports of an easier spot situation and it was noticeable that trade interests sold the late deliveries freely all day. Weather conditions were somewhat improved but at the moment the small demand for the raw material is the factor governing the market.

WHEAT TOUCHED SEASON'S LOWEST

Market Closed Steady Half a Cent Under the Previous Close.

Chicago, September 27.—Wheat today touched the lowest price so far this season. Productions of big world shipments were chiefly responsible. The market finished steady, but half a cent down all around, compared with the night before. The outcome in corn was a decline of ½c to 1⅛c net, and for oats a loss of ⅛c to ¾c. Latest trading left provisions varying from 5c off to an advance of 2½c.

Rallying power seemed to have vanished from the wheat pit. Offerings remained heavy throughout. It was estimated world shipments would be nearly four million bushels greater than for the corresponding week a year ago. Kansas City promised heavy receipts for next week. In this connection a leading firm here, said to be largely interested at Kansas City, was a liberal buyer o fthe September option in Chicago, but a seller of May at 6½c difference. On the other hand, mills at Minneapolis were reported delivering wheat on September contracts, a procedure almost unknown in that market. The December future here ranged from 89¼c to 89 7-8c, with last sales ½c net lower at 89 5-8c.

Buying demand for corn received a check through the weakness of wheat and because of a break in cash prices. December fluctuated between 52 5-8c and 53 5-8c, closing steady, ¾c off at 52¾@52 7-8c. Cash grades were heavy. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 71¼@72½c.

Oats became easy, in sympathy with other grain. Commission houses sold on all hard spots. Upper and lower levels reached for December were 32⅛@32¼c and 31 7-8c, with the close ⅛c under last night at 32c.

Scattered liquidation took the edge off the provision market, especially for nearby delivery. In the end, however, no decline exceeded 5c.

ATLANTA LIVE STOCK MARKET

(By W. H. White, Jr., of White Provision Company.)

Quotations based on actual purchases during the current week.

Good to choice steers, 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, $5.25 to $6.00.

Good steers, 800 to 1,000 pounds, $5.00 to $5.25.

Medium to good steers, 700 to 850 pounds, $4.25 to $4.75.

Good to choice beef cows, 800 to 900 pounds, $4.00 to $4.50.

Medium to good beef cows, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.50 to $4.00.

Good to choice heifers, 750 to 850 pounds, $4.00 to $4.50.

Medium to good heifers, 650 to 750 pounds, $3.50 to $4.25.

Medium to good steers, if fat, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.50 to $4.25.

Medium to common cows, if fat, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.00 to $3.50.

Mixed common, 600 to 800 pounds, $3.25 to $4.00.

Good butcher bulls, $3.00 to $3.75.

Good to choice Tennesse lambs, 60 to 80 pounds, 4 to 5½.

Common lambs and yearlings, 2½ to 4.

Sheep, range, 2 to 4.

Prime hogs, 160 to 200 average, 8.25 to 8.75.

Prim hogs, 160 to 200 average, 8.25 to 8.75.

Good butcher hogs, 140 to 160 average, 7.75 to 8.25.

Good butcher pigs, 100 to 140 average, 7.25 to 8.00.

Light pigs, 80 to 100 average, 6.75 to 7.25.

Heavy rough hogs, 200 to 250 average, 7.00 to 8.00.

Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs. Mast and peanut fattened hogs, 1 to 1½ cents lower.

Liberal receipts of cattle in yards this week. Several loads of Tennessee cattle with better per cent of heavy steers in good flesh, which were sold promptly at prices about equal to quotations of week ago. However, owing to the heavy receipts cattle in middle class sold off a fraction and the market is quoted barely steady with a weaker undertone on medium grades and 10 to 25 cents lower on the common kinds.

Feeding steers will begin to move freely after another week and large receipts are expected of good butcher steers, which will be considered too fat for the average feeder to begin on.

Cow stuff is plentiful, local shippers being able to fully meet the market requirements.

Sheep and lambs with quality are in good demand, mixed and common lower and are slow sale at lower prices.

Hog receipts moderate, market steady.

STEEL LED REST IN THE ADVANCE

Stock Market Had Strong Undertone During the Session.

New York, September 27.—Regardless of the monetary situation, which was sufficiently tense to cause local banks to call more loans, today's stock market manifested a strong undertone. The movement at times was narrow and irregular and the total output was smaller than for several days. Money on call opened at a fraction under yesterday's initial rate, but soon rose to 6 per cent, at which figure the bulk of the day's loans were negatiated.

The rate eased in the afternoon, when the stock market recorded its top prices, under lead of United States Steel, which scored its highest price of the year on exceptionally large offerings. Other standard shares also were in demand, but most of them failed by a slight margin to equal recent high levels.

The further rise in steel and allied issues was generally attributed to trade conditions, which show increased activity at all leading centers of that industry. Demand for pig iron is reported to be so large that additional capacity is required at Pittsburg. Contracts for various sorts of finished products are already being taken for the coming year. Similar conditions prevail in the copper trade, the domestic inquiry for the current month having been the largest, according to authorities, in more than three years.

Among the strong and active railway stocks were Canadian Pacific and its ally, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie; New York Central, Reading and Illinois Central, with such minor issues as Missouri Pacific, Toledo, St. Louis and Western, common and preferred, and Western Maryland. In the final hour Rock Island and the Gould group also became active at smart advances.

An unexpected inflow of money from the interior promises to reduce the cash loss of the local banks to a nominal figure.

Bonds were steady, with special strength in Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal issues. Total sales, par value, $2,660,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

No Place for Papers

THE OFFICE DESK OR TABLE IS certainly not a safe place for such valuable papers as stocks, bonds, insurance policies, mortgages, deeds, notes, etc.; and yet many a so-called "good" business man has sacrificed some such paper upon this altar of carelessness.

If you have been a victim, you know the price of your carelessness. If you have not yet suffered such a loss, don't take any more chances, but come in and let us assign you a Box in our fire-proof and burglar-proof Vault. The cost is very nominal and the protection absolute.

LATEST MARKET NEWS

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, September 27.—Big receipts and Friday's October notices for 50,000 to 60,000 bales have tended to depress prices of cotton, but their effect has been offset, in a measure at least, by the fear of an unusually early frost. That might have distinctly bad results in a season when over much of the belt the plant is undoubtedly two to three weeks late. Fear of frost has kept the bears on their good behavior. Also exporters who had sold for September shipment have not found in all cases an easy matter to fulfill their contracts, and therefore had to pay relatively high prices. It is a fact, too, that the condition of the cotton goods industry, both at home and abroad, is distinctly prosperous, far more so than it has been for years past. Both American and European mills are making money. There is a good margin of profit between the price of raw material and prices of cotton goods at the present time. Laterly some of the spot houses have been buying. It is urged, too, that as outside speculation is dormant and yet offerings are, on the whole, well taken, it must be that spinners are buying on a larger scale than many have supposed them to be.

Waldorf-Astoria operators have latterly been buying to some extent, though that resort was supposed to be a hotbed of bearish sentiment in cotton. Memphis, and other southern centers of the cotton business, have been sending buying orders.

A rumor, which may be given here for all it is worth, is to the effect that the next report by the National Ginners' association will state the condition at not much over 64 per cent.

Wall street and western commission houses have been buying on a scale down. Not a few have been impressed by the market's power of resistance in the face of all drawbacks. Declines have often been followed by quick rallies.

The big receipts at Texas points have had a tendency to discourage buying for any pronounced rise at the present time. Liverpool has sent selling orders. Its spot sales have been small. There has been a pressure of hedges on the market at home and abroad. The big Texas receipts lead some to believe that the crop will be larger than last year in that state. The high rates for ocean freights are restricting the export trade. It is feared that when the receipts increase east of the Mississippi the difficulty in getting ocean tonnage may have a prejudicial effect on prices. At the moment, however, trading in cotton futures is on a very moderate scale, as very many prefer to await the government report next Wednesday, when it will give an estimate of the crop an dthe total of the ginning. Friday's decline, however, has injured the prestige of the bulls.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED.

What Commercial Agencies Say About Business.

New York, September 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say that proof accumulates on every hand of a developing national prosperity, broad, wholesome and quite independent of controversial issues that usually breed uncertainty and hesitation. Many years have passed since there has been such unanimity of testimony as to the widening of business activity. Even some of the lines which have been lagging are now developing the same progressive spirit which for some time has existed in the iron and steel industry and is making that trade break all previous records. Consumption has not only overtaken production, but is rapidly pressing ahead of it, and in some important points scarcity of facilities, scarcity of labor and scarcity of transportation appear as the inevitable accompaniment of an accumulation of demand.

In the iron and steel trade the pressure in the market for deliveries is reflected in the sharp demand for pig iron this week, quotations tending higher and the market, as a whole, being in a very strong position. Orders continue to come in freely and the mills are provided practically to the close of the year. Much difficulty is still experienced in meeting the demand. Merchant pipe, steel bars and sheets are in urgent request and the movement of plates and shapes is heavy. Heavy buying of rails for next year's delivery continues. As the present need for new supplies is urgent, the outlook for the new year is particularly promising. Crude steel material is scarce and premiums are paid for immediate delivery.

Copper production and consumption are both enormous. Not only is the distribution of dry goods in the various branches of the trade larger than last year, but the leading merchants are looking forward to a year of general prosperity. Conditions in the shoe trade are now tending to the same degree of activity. The great middle west is experiencing all the benefits of a big crop year. The Pacific northwest is rejoicing in a revival of the lumber industry. Building operations continue active in many of the large cities. Heavy rains have interfered to some extent with retail distribution, but this is merely temporary.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 27.—Large tenders were made today upon October contracts, which created further liquidation, which increased when the national ginners' condition of 69.1 was received. Foreign merchants expect to receive a portion of these tenders for shipment abroad. After a rally, based on the smaller amount in sight and the estimate of ginners, the market again met the usually heavy selling, by the spot houses during the last half hour. It is supposed these houses buy cotton in the south against their sales here each day. The local feeling continues to look for the market to decline further under this buying of cotton in the south and the hedging of it here.

Liverpool is due to come about 6 points lower in the morning.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, September 27.—The early market for cotton seed oil was depressed by the heaviness in lard and light demand from consumers, but the afternoon market rallied quite sharply on commission house buying and room trading. The close was 1 to 4 points net higher. Sales, 6,100 barrels.

Crude, 4.80@4.87; prime summer yellow, spot, 6.17@6.21; October, 6.20. Prime winter yellow, 7.00@7.30; do. summer white, 6.30@7.00.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, September 27.—There were notices issued today for the tender of about 50,000 bales of cotton on October contracts and it was a weak market all day. The weather and crop reports continue unfavorable, but the Texas movement is very large, and the spot demand poor. The big spot interests continue most active on the short side, and so Wall street longs covered today. The close was barely steady at a decline of 10 to 16 points.

Liverpool is due to come 4 to 6 points down.

Provisions.

Chicago, September 27.—Mess pork, $16.50@16.65. Lard in tierces, $10.97½. Short ribs, loose, $10.12½@10.62½.

St. Louis, September 27.—Pork, lard, dry salt meats and bacon unchanged.

Cincinnati, September 27.—Bulk meats, bacon and lard firm.

New York, September 27.—Beef firm. Pork steady. Cut meats dull. Lard easier. Tallow steady.

HESTER'S WEEKLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, September 27.—Cotton crop movement, September 1 to 27, inclusive:

Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans cotton exchange cotton statement, issued at the close of business today, shows a decrease, in round figures, in the movement into sight for the past seven days of 25,000 under the seven days ending September 27 last year, an increase over the year before last of 84,000 and an increase over the same time in 1909 of 80,000.

The amount brought into sight during the week ending this afternoon is stated at 473,386, against 498,709 for the seven days ending September 27 last year, 389,115 year before last and 393,427 same time in 1909. This brings the total crop moved into sight for the 27 days of the new season 1,242,267, against 1,355,042 last year, 952,382 year before last, and 1,117,491 same time in 1909.

The movement since September 1 shows receipts at all United States ports 953,699, against 1,040,595 last year, 733,387 year before last, and 878,854 same time in 1909; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada, 6,444, against 11,487 last year, 4,260 year before last, and 7,199 same time in 1909.

Interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year, 117,124, against 155,817 last year, 89,280 year before last, and 137,216 same time in 1909; southern mill takings, 165,000, against 147,143 last year, 125,455 year before last, and 154,304 same time in 1909.

Foreign exports of American cotton since September 1 have been 502,379, against 647,884 last year. The total takings of American mills, north, south and Canada, thus far for the season have been 258,872, against 251,929. These include 92,960 by southern spinners, against 104,445.

Since the close of the commercial year, stocks at American ports and the 29 leading southern interior centers have increased 481,017, against an increase for the same period last season of 455,229, and are now 103,527 larger than at this date in 1911.

Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop and the number of bales brought into sight thus far for the new crop, the supply to date is 1,606,980, against 1,642,016 for the same period last year.

Hester's World's Visibly Supply.

New Orleans, September 27.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and year before last. It shows an increase for the week just closed of 264,036, against an increase of 297,083 last year and an increase of 294,830 year before last.

The total visible is 2,700,205, against 2,436,169 last week, 2,218,783 last year and 1,870,963 year before last. Of this the total of American cotton is 1,913,205, against 1,652,169 last week, 1,581,783 last year and 1,295,963 year before last, and of all other lands, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 787,000, against 784,000 last week, 637,000 last year and 575,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton, as above, shows an increase compared with last week of 264,036, an increase compared with last year of 481,422, and an increase compared with year before last of 829,242.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton, as above, there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,367,000, against 1,083,000 last year and 986,000 year before last; in Egypt, 62,000, against 37,000 last year and 53,000 year before last; in India, 425,000, against 356,000 last year, and 315,000 year before last; and in the United States 846,000, against 743,000 last year, and 517,000 year before last.

Coffee.

New York, September 27.—Coffee futures steady at a decline of 1 point on December, but generally 2 to 4 points higher and during the early trading sold about 1 to 6 points above the closing figures of yesterday, on European buying, covering and reports of a better trade demand. "WORK DAY" FOR ORPHAN'S HOME

Destitute Little Ones Will Be Remembered Today by Voluntary Contributions.

Today is "Work day" for the orphan children at the Georgia Industrial home. It is the hope of the management that every friend of this worthy charity will remember that the great work is maintained by voluntary contributions and will be sure to send what they can afford at this time. The home has done the best work in its history during the past year, but it has been the hardest year financially since it opened its doors to destitute children nearly fourteen years ago.

There are now 140 children actually in the home, besides others out in homes whom the home is still responsible for, and seven urgent applications for admission of children who are now in a most pitiable condition, have been received during the past few days.

The home is full to overflowing, and no money in the treasury, while the grocery bill is already sadly in arrears.

The question is up to every citizen who reads this article. No matter who you are, whether in the church or out of it, whether you have plenty or little, it makes no difference, if you have a heart and sympathize with the unfortunate children of our state who have been cast out with no one to take an interest in them, then you can send a contribution to help. Great or small, it will be greatly appreciated by the management and by 140 little ones. All checks should be made payable to the Georgia Industrial home.

DUCKS SLEEP BY DAY BUT HUNT BUGS NIGHTS

Pontiac, Ill., September 27.—Sleeping during the entire day, and at night bestirring themselves to search for bugs beneath the electric street lights, a flock of ducks owned by Stephen Moore are the wonder of Freeport. The birds refuse to go abroad in the daytime, but when darkness falls they grow lively and hungry.

To Appoint Valdes.

Panama, September 27.—President-elect Porras, who will be inaugurated next Monday, will announce tomorrow his appointment of Senor Valdes as Panama minister to the United States and of Joseph Levre as secretary and Nicholas Ramon as attache of the legation in Washington.

FELDER CONSTRUES LAW ON FERTILIZER FILLER

Commissioner Conner, after consulting with Attorney General Felder as to the proper interpretation of the fertilizer filler law passed by the last legislature, has issued the following instructions to fertilizer inspectors, which will also be of interest to manufacturers and dealers:

"It is ruled that it shall be unlawful for any manufacturer, mixer, manipulator or dealer in commercial fertilizers to manufacture, sell or offer for sale in this state, any fertilizer that contains pyrites, cinders, coal cinders or any injurious or deleterious filler.

"It is ruled in addition to the present requirements as to what shall be branded upon the package or tag, that a statement must appear immediately below the information giving the sources and ingredients, the total number of pounds of available plant food (phosphoric acid, nitrogen and potash), the pounds of filler 'worthless as a fertilizer,' and the total number of pounds of all other combined materials. The following form, for example, should be used:

"Available plant food............lbs.
"Filler 'worthless as fertilizer'..lbs.
"All other combined materials...lbs.

"When giving this information on the sack, the letters used shall not be less than three-quarters of an inch. When this information is put on a tag, it must be plainly printed, and the size of the type shall not be smaller than ten-point capitals.

"In stating the sources and ingredients and other information which is required on the tag, no rubber stamp will be allowed, but it must be printed, and no advertising will be permitted; only the information required by law shall appear. In printing the sources and ingredients on the tag, no erasures will be permitted; only the sources and ingredients contained in the fertilizer to which the tag is attached shall appear thereon."

GOV. T. R. MARSHALL AFTER TRACK GAMBLERS

Indianapolis, Ind., September 27.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall today directed his forces against the promoters of the Mineral Springs Jockey club, which has completed a running race plant and intends starting a meeting in October at Porter, Ind. The governor directed Attorney General Honan to file suit to enjoin the club from operating.

It was reported to the governor that the club was preparing for an elaborate system of gambling, especially for the race followers in Chicago. The governor says there is no politics behind his action and in speaking of the case said.

"Just because I am a candidate for office is no reason why I should sit idly by and allow the laws to be broken. Indiana is not going to be the dumping ground for Chicago gamblers."

THIRD GIRL IN FAMILY KILLS SELF FOR LOVE

Sedalia, Mo., September 27.—The third daughter of Frank Dunton to kill herself because of unrequited love died here from poison. She was Minnie, 16 years old. When her sister, Daisy, 17, ended her life in 1903, the father killed her admirer, for which he is serving a 28-year term in prison. An older sister killed herself in St. Louis several years ago for love.

Probing Chicago's Vice.

Chicago, September 27.—An investigation into vice conditions in this city was ordered yesterday by the September grand jury. Subpoenas were issued for a number of witnesses, including two newspaper publishers and three heads of civic organizations.

OIL INSPECTORS ATTEND SCHOOL

Inspection of Gasoline Is Chief Feature of New System of Instruction.

Instruction of oil inspectors for their work, and particularly for the inspection of gasoline which is placed under their care by a new law, was begun yesterday by the direction of the commissioner of agriculture, J. J. Conner.

A score of inspectors gathered in the commissioner's office and were shown the operation of the hydrometer for testing gasoline, and told how to differentiate between crude oil and refined petroleum, and other pointers which will be useful to them in inspecting the state's oil supply.

Dr. R. E. Stallings, the state chemist, was assisted by Dr. W. C. Bryant.

Following are those who reported for instruction: Henry T. McIntosh, Albany; Ulrich C. Ray, Americus; B. A. Crane, Athens; M. C. Jones, Augusta; P. W. Fleming, Augusta; W. M. Bradley, Carrollton; S. Vernon; N. T. McDaniel, Moxley; H. P. Brewer, Waycross; A. W. Neely, Waynesboro; J. H. Booker, West Point.

The names of the additional inspectors appointed by Mr. Conner have not yet been given out, but the above is the most complete list so far obtainable.

TRAFFIC IN CATALONIA IS TORN UP BY STRIKE

Cerbere, France, September 27.—Strikebreakers are being introduced into Spain to take the place of railroad men who recently left work and practically tied up the whole of the traffic in Catalonia. Nearly a hundred ship engineers arrived today at Barcelona from Melilla and other ports to take charge of the locomotives.

The strike is spreading throughout the north of Spain. On the Madrid and Northern line a mail train, manned by a military crew, broke down in the international tunnel outside of Port Bou.

HE KILLS AFFINITY AND JUMPS TO DEATH

New York, September 27.—Joseph Caruso's young wife was shot and killed in her east side home late last night by John Virgel, a boarder. Virgel jumped from the sixth-story room where he committed the crime to the sidewalk and died instantly. He left a note saying he intended to elope with Mrs. Caruso, but "trouble came" and they had planned to die together.

Caruso, walking in shortly after Virgel's fatal jump, gave one glance at the body of his wife and then tried to throw himself from the fire escape. In a hysterical condition he was taken to a hospital.

The mild chew makes a difference

Sometimes the dark, strong tasting tobacco gets to tasting pretty bitter, gets to bothering a man's nerves. When it does, a man begins to lose the solid comfort of a chew. He may begin to think he'll have to knock off chewing altogether—and how he'd miss it!

At such a time what a real pleasure to run across Drummond! How that mild, mellow, natural leaf does solve the comfort problem!—most men never guessed there was such a chew till they tried it.

DRUMMOND NATURAL LEAF

is a chunk of real satisfaction to any man—but particularly to the man who's only known the old style dark plug. Drummond is made of the very cream of Burley leaf. Its nerve-soothing mildness has made thousands of friends in the last 30 years. Thousands of new friends drop into the Drummond Camp every year. Make friends with Drummond today. BROTHER STOLE WIFE AND FAMILY

Household Goods Taken and His Crops Sold Declares Norcross Man.

Athens, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) J. L. Lipsey, of Norcross, arrived in Athens tonight searching for his brother, who, he alleged, had stolen his wife and three children, sold his household furniture and run away with the complete family outfit. He discovered that last night his brother was married to his wife here by the pastor of the Christian church, to whom he gave a fictitious name for the bride. The same name was given to the ordinary in securing license.

J. L. Lipsey is 30, his brother 26 and the woman 20.

When 21 years old Lipsey married and three children have been born to the union. His younger brother boarded with him and raised a crop this year with him. Lipsey says he was told of relations of his wife and brother, and became so affected that he decided to leave Norcross and with his wife away from the old influences begin life anew. He secured a position in Atlanta Monday and went back to Norcross to get his family and furniture. He says that the brother had sold the crops and the furniture and run away with his wife and children.

SOUTH INJURES OWN PROGRESS

from southern senators, on account of their political affiliation. He referred to the Mississippi floods, saying that although a democratic house of representatives had been in session for five months after the flood no move had been made to prevent a repetition of the disaster. He said he favored utilization of the Panama canal plant for a great project of improvement of the waterways of the Mississippi valley, which would prevent floods as well as serving many other purposes.

"If I were elected president," he continued, "I would fight the thing through. I would get our people to authorize it and then I'd bring Major Goethals from Panama and put him in charge of it."

The action of the democrats in the house in voting for abolition of the tariff on sugar was cited by Colonel Roosevelt as another example of what he meant. He said that the democratic party stood for free entry of sugar, which would compel the great majority of sugar cane and beet growers to go out of business whereas the progressives were opposed both to excessive protection and to lowering the tariff to a point which would harm producers.

"If you don't agree with me upon these matters," he continued, "then you ought to be against me. But if you do believe as I do, then I want to find some way so that you and I can get together and work for the common good. I don't want you to feel that you have a platonic friendship for me, but that you have got to vote for the other fellow. If you are for us I want to see you not merely quietly voting for us, as if you felt rather ashamed to let your brother know about it, but to come out and work for us."

LEWD WOMEN NOT WANTED BY MACON

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Macon church people are aroused over the report that arrangements are being made to bring at least fifty of the women of Atlanta's red light district and place them in houses here. It was stated today that three proprietresses of houses in Macon's restricted district had gone to Atlanta to get their pick from among the women who have been made homeless there by Chief Beavers' order.

Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, former president of Wesleyan Female college, was one of those who came out today in a strong protest.

"We do not need to extend a welcoming hand to those women from Atlanta's zone of shame," said Dr. Ainsworth. "We have enough stench of that kind right here at home." Dr. Ainsworth also protested against the moving of Macon's restricted district to Tybee, a negro settlement.

It is said there are now 150 women inmates in houses of prostitution in Macon.

ROSES FOR THE CHIEF EXCITE POLICE STATION

When a neatly wrapped package, glittering in pretty adornments, was delivered at Chief Beavers' office at police headquarters yesterday morning, there was much speculation among the clerks and attaches. There was something mysterious about the package, it seemed so out of place.

The vague sound of a ticking clock generated suspicion, and somebody declared that the sound came from within the package.

"An infernal machine!" The exclamation scattered the crowd of clerks and policemen into the corners of the room.

An immense bouquet of imperial roses was contained inside. On the top lay a letter of congratulation and praise for Chief James Litchfield Beavers for his masterful work in wiping out vice in Atlanta, and assuring him of support from the Ladies' Aid society of the Tabernacle Baptist church, from which organization the bouquet had come.

MARTIAL LAW WILL BE DECLARED IN FORSYTH

Before the ten negro suspects now in the Fulton county tower are sent back to Cumming, in Forsyth county, next Wednesday for trial, martial law will be declared in the county and a military guard sent to insure a fair trial.

So intense is the feeling throughout the county, following the fiendish crime committed on the person of a 17-year-old white girl, that an outbreak is feared unless extraordinary precautions are taken.

The grand jury meets on Monday and will indict the negroes and they will be brought to trial on Wednesday. The crime charged in the indictment will be murder, since the cruelly treated little victim never recovered from her terrible experience and died last Tuesday. Hundreds of negroes have left the county, fearing the vengeance of the white people might be wreaked on them.

Judge Newt Morris, of the Blue Ridge circuit, came to Atlanta Thursday and discussed the situation with the governor, at which time the wisdom of declaring martial law in the county during the trial was agreed upon.

TEST LEGALITY OF PROHI LAW

T. L. Wood, Manager of Central Club, Will Go On Trial Soon.

A test will be made of the legality of the state prohibition law in the trial of T. L. Wood, manager of the Central club, who was indicted along with twelve other locker club officers by the grand jury investigation which was financed by T. K. Glenn. It is understood that an effort will be made to defeat the case in the superior court, and if the defense fails to establish the alleged illegality of the law the case will be taken to the supreme court for interpretation.

Thursday has been set aside by Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey for the trial of the cases against Wood and others under indictment. All the accused are out on bond, and if the case against Wood, which is the first on the calendar, is reached it will be the first bond case to reach trial in several sessions. Wood will be called to trial first because the indictments against the others are said to be predicated on the same information.

Wood was placed on trial some weeks ago, but the case was postponed when a message reached the courtroom that the stork had made a visit to the Wood home and left a fine baby.

NO ATTACK WAS MADE ON AMERICAN LEGATION

Berne, Switzerland, September 27.—Despite reports to the contrary in circulation in the United States, no attack was made today on the American legation here by a mob which was demonstrating in sympathy with Ettor and Giovannitti, the leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, who are under arrest in Massachusetts.

SECOND STRIKE AT LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Mass., September 27.—Practically 12,000 textile operatives here had been affected tonight by the great strike inaugurated by Industrial Workers of the World to show their sympathy for Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, leaders of that organization, and as a protest against their trial in connection with the killing of Anna Lopizzo during the strike last winter, which is to begin Monday in Salem. Tomorrow it is feared there will be an extension of the strike. Mill owners were said to be ready to close down the plants in event of further walkouts, or if disorder develops.

In a comparatively mild degree, Lawrence experienced today a repetition of the scenes enacted last winter. Some of the more eager strikers, in attempting to get workers to leave their machines, caused slight disturbances in several mills.

Leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World renewed their assertion tonight that the strike was not sanctioned, was unorganized, and without a leader.

W. C. T. U. MEETING HAS A SENSATION

Cartersville, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—The decided sensation of the heretofore quiet and decorous convention of the Georgia Woman's Christian Temperance union, which is in session in Cartersville, was when Mrs. William H. Felton arose to a point of personal privilege and took the members of the union and the presiding officer to task for allowing National Organizer Newlin, of the prohibition party, to offer an insult to Mrs. M. L. McLendon, Mrs. Felton's aged sister. The Bartow county woman also reprimanded President T. E. Patterson, of the convention, for criticising Mrs. Alice Longworth, which was done by Mrs. Patterson in her address before the convention yesterday as she spoke upon the subject of cigarette smoking.

The words of the venerable and brilliant Cartersville woman came at the close of a vote that had just been cast against a resolution asking the Woman's Christian Temperance union, of Georgia, to favor woman's suffrage.

The next meeting place will be Bainbridge, which was the unanimous choice. The financial report was the best in the history of the state organization. More members were reported at this convention than ever before. Thirty-one new local unions were organized this year.

Just before adjournment at the noon hour today the election of officers for the coming year was gone into, the result of which was that all the old officers were given their places by unanimous votes of the delegates present.

Let Us Refit Your Office

Little things often turn the tide of trade. Take, for example, the average business office. It is usually a conglomeration of papers, boxes, books and a miscellaneous array of desks of all sizes, shapes, woods and finishes which affront the eye. Now, Mr. Business Man, this is a business handicap that can be easily changed.

We make a specialty of refitting offices. We will submit schemes and plans whereby you can have your office arranged in an orderly way with attractive office furniture that is in harmony with its surroundings. Will you let us help you? Ask for our Office Furniture Man.
